Scots Engage in Summer of Travel, Work

By dumping school books and fountain pens and donning bathing suits and beachtowels, Scots centered their attention on vacations, volunteer work, and summer jobs.

Harrison Evans slushed through the summer as a Zemi repairman while Marianne Windrow and Laurie Wilkin picked up tips as waitresses at the Tree House and the S&S Tea Room. Karen Stinebaugh and Leslie Spalti greeted visitors at Six Flags over Texas.

Student Council president Tim Doolittle, along with other student officers, attended the Texas Association of Student Council Workshops at SMU in order to improve HP's council in leading a student body.

Two students were chosen by the AFS to travel abroad. Amy Smith journeyed to India to learn the customs of the Hindu people by living with an Indian family for two months, while graduated Scot Beth Mims spent the school year in Austria.

Francey Russell and Debby and Reid Slaughter explored the lure of beachcombing in Hawaii, during the time that Libby Hunt and Pat Wessely traveled in Europe and Russia.

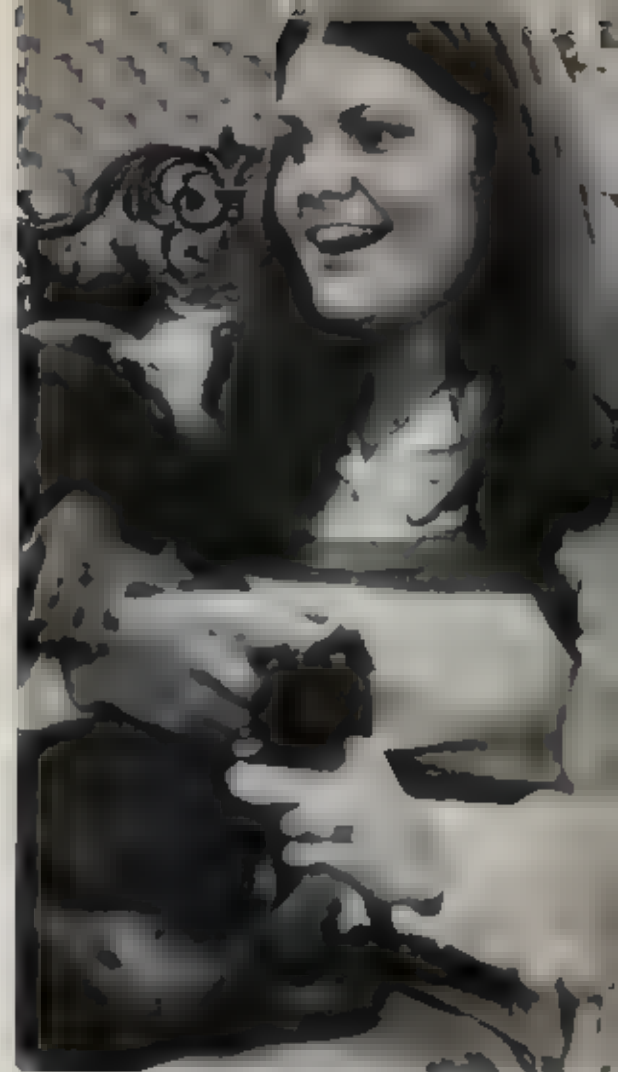

Working with youngsters at camps, Susan Wood, Nancy McKinney, Martha Keay, and Barbara Nelson taught children the fundamentals of swimming, archery, and riding.

Cindy Scott and Sharon White gained experience through their volunteer work at Parkland Hospital and Children's Medical Center.

Many Scots attended Explo '72, which gathered 100,000 Christians from all parts of the United States, teaching them how to spread their faith.

The call of the mountains beckoned more than 80 HP students to retreat from the bustle of city life to Young Life's Frontier Ranch.

"ALL ABOARD," SHOUTS Robert Lockett as he rings the bell at the Age of Steam at the State Fair

New Rodeo Club Attracts Students, Calls Stampede

Youngest of HP's interest groups, the Rodeo Club, hit the trail with a membership drive that rounded up more than 400 members who stampeded into the gym for bull sessions.

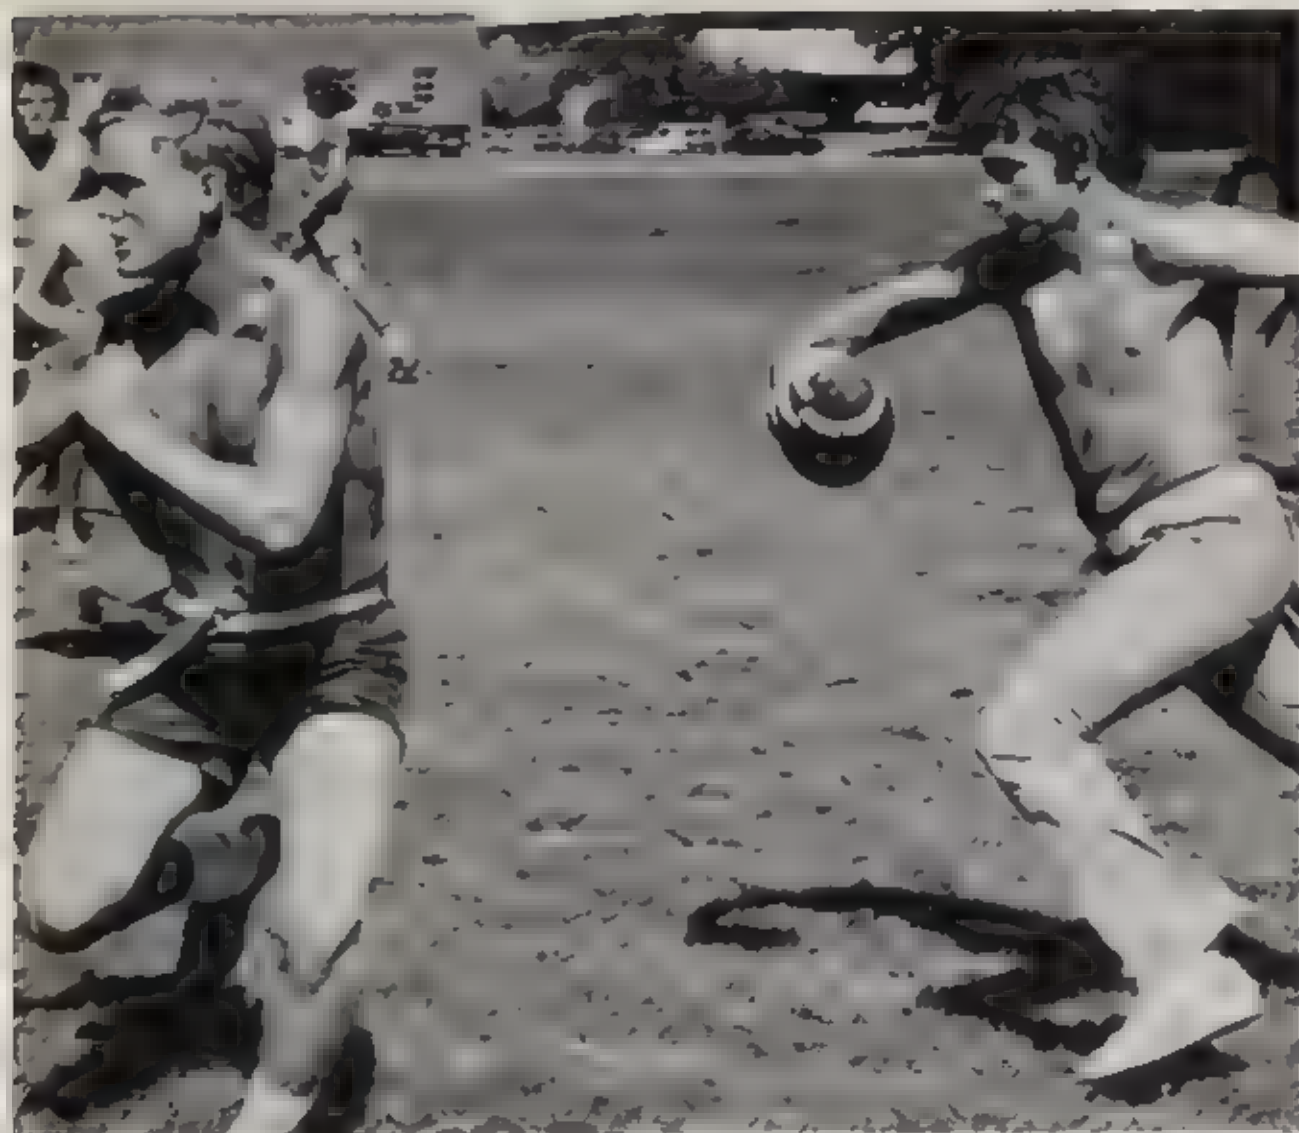

Combining the best of two previous years, members of the Student Council brought the student body together as a climax to the first home game by creating and sponsoring the "You've Got a Howdy Dance." Those deemed to be the friendliest and the best dancers received awards for these awesome achievements.

Hi-Lite big sisters treated freshman girls to a time of food and fun at the annual pre school picnic held in Williams Park. Picnics and parties also entertained initiates of the band, orchestra, and choirs.

Confused parents threaded their way through a complex maze of halls to meet teachers, attend classes, and relax to the sounds of the Lads and Lassies in the large auditorium on Back to School night.

In September students and faculty spurred the Scots on to four consecutive victories over early opponents.

Ten HP Students Given Scholastic Honor

Ten HP students, ranking in the top one half of one percent of the nation's graduating seniors, received the honor of semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program.

The list included two girls, Carol Anne Crook and Madelyn Curl, and eight boys, Vic Averitt, Glenn Cooper, David Davies, David Kigore, Kerry LaPrade, Fred Maus, Eben Price, and Hugh Williams.

The test, combined for the first time with the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, tested the students' skills in English, math, science, social studies, and vocabulary.

Students who advance to finalist qualify for one of the scholarships given in the program. Board members also consider school recommendations, other achievements, and personal interests when choosing the finalists.

Twelve HP seniors receiving honorable mention qualified for Letters of Commendation given by the board. These students were Doug Alcott, Nina Beutel, Rick Brown, Allen DeSalme, Rick Dineen, and Ed Drake. Rusty Farahee, Holly Hutchinson, Laurie Littlejohn, Fran Nelson, Susan Pigeon, and George Slover concluded the list.

AFS Presents Talented Performers; Dad's Club Holds Ice Cream Party

Open-mouthed Scots viewing the AFS talent show influenced the judges opinions in deciding the winners. "Impact" a stage band, and magician Kim Larson with his sister Sally walked off with top prizes.

The Dad's Club sponsored an ice cream party in the cafeteria for Scots whose fathers joined the club. Another project, College Night, permitted Scots to meet representatives of more than 90 colleges.

"It's A Beautiful Day" served as Homecoming theme, but also represented Bonnie Jericho's feelings as she received the Homecoming Queen's crown and scepter.

Selling T-shirts to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom tested juniors on their persuasive ability. Salesmen who convinced the most Scots to buy, won tickets to the prom.

Cowboy boots, western shirts, and blue jeans set the style at an old fashioned square dance given by the Rodeo Club at the Eugene Smith ranch in Mesquite. Joe Lewis, a one-man band, provided the entertainment at the October 7 party.

Senior Laura Sears, University Park's Miss Flame, and Junior Nancy Sanford, High and Park's Miss Flame, appeared in a parade October 14 representing the Park Cities in the opening ceremonies of Fire Prevention Week.

Gold medal Olympic swimmer Jerry Heidenreich kicked off the "All Sports Week in the Park Cities" October 10. Hi-Lites' October festivity honored girls' mothers at the Mother-Daughter Tea.

Highlander Band members marched in the State Fair "Parade of Champions" for Class AAA and AAAA. Precision drills, similar to those performed at half time, merited $500 and a second-place trophy.

Lads and Lassies placed 14 singers in the All-Region tryouts in October. Highlandaires attended a treasure hunt for their Halloween party, and both choral groups entertained Scots at several all-school assemblies.

Student Council Sponsors Dance, Crowns Bonnie

Dallas's first cold front brought chilly weather for the Homecoming game. As the temperatures remained low, however, so did the Scots' end of the scoring, with the North Mesquite Stallions creating their own heat wave to win 14 to 3.

Despite the game's unfortunate outcome, the festive mood prevailed throughout the evening. During half-time Homecoming queen nominees and their fathers paraded around Highlander field in convertibles to be introduced to the crowd.

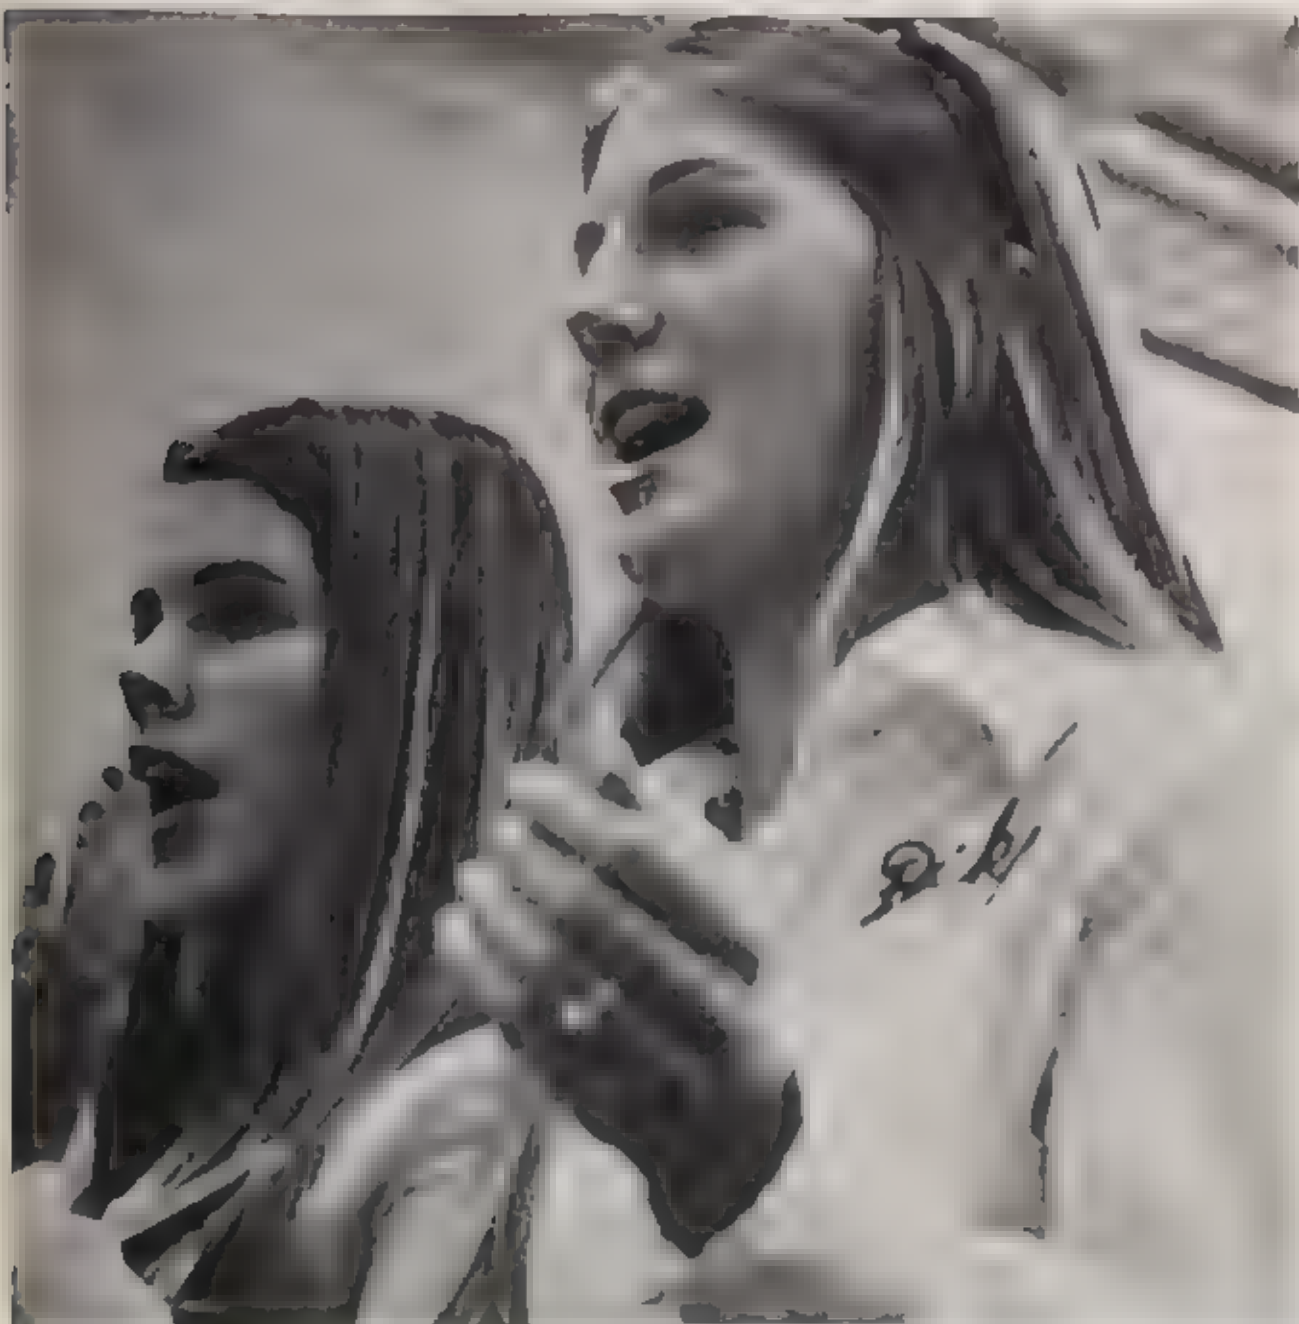

Scots attended the Homecoming dance following the game. The girls' "grand ballroom" gym displayed colorful streamers and fluorescent rainbow posters highlighted by blacklights in keeping with the theme, "It's a Beautiful Day."

The announcement of the 1972 Homecoming Queen climaxed the evening. Each nominee, escorted by a varsity football player to the tune of her favorite song, gathered around the coveted throne as Student Council President Tim Doolittle crowned and congratulated 1972 Homecoming Queen Bonnie Jericho.

Two Junior Girls Chosen AFS Candidates

Visions of strange places and unusual customs filled the minds of Marina Elliott and Lisa Irby, HP's AFS candidates.

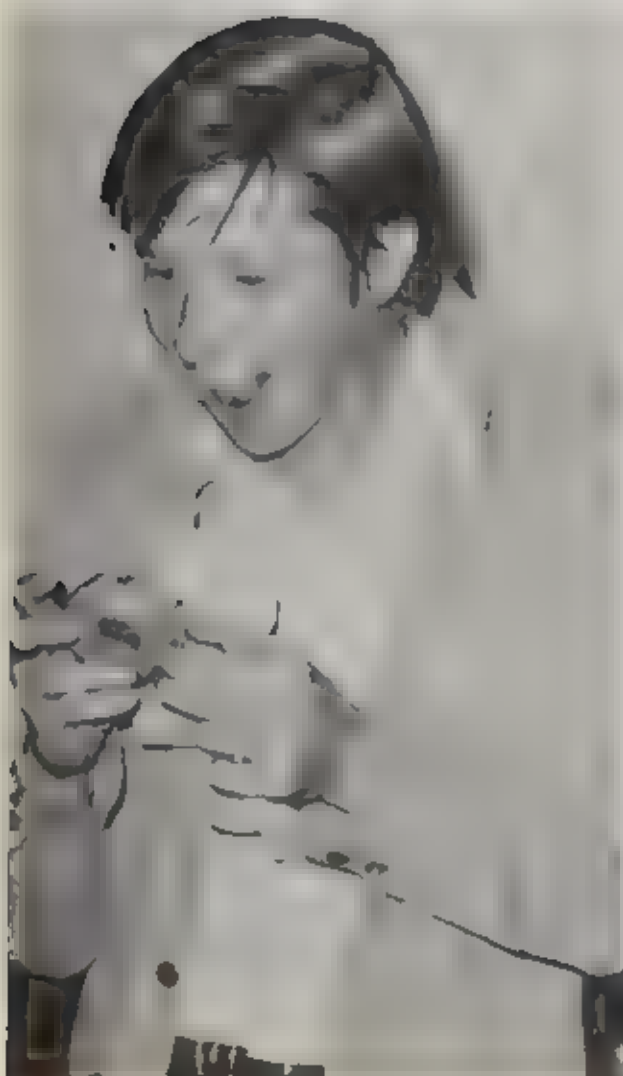

After applying in October along with eight other applicants, the girls were chosen and their names sent to the New York office to find foreign homes for them for the summer.

To finance exchange students coming to Highland Park, AFS sponsored a talent show in mid-November for all grades.

Speech competition classes attended the R.L. Turner Speech Tournament November 3 and 4. Highland Park swept the dramatic interpretation competition, winning first, second and third places, capturing enough points to win sweepstakes.

For the first time in several years, seven members of the concert orchestra won positions in the All-State Orchestra. Tryouts were held November 4 at Richardson High School with results announced in mid-December.

The running Scots closed out their season with a five win-five loss record, playing Mesquite, South Garland, and Denton in November. The varsity basketball team netted victories at all six of their November pre-season games.

Astrid and Sara Tell of Travels To AFS, Clubs

Two American Field Service exchange students from Uruguay and West Germany brought a taste of culture to Highland Park's internationally renowned senior class.

Coming to Highland Park from Montevideo, Uruguay, Sara Mazal quickly adjusted to the American way of life while living in the home of senior Karen Stinebaugh. Sara kept busy with traditional senior activities including Y-teens, Round Table, Hi-Lites, and Travel Club. Her favorite aspect of the AFS program was the opportunity to talk with and know different people. Sara verbalized many of our own opinions when she expressed her surprise at "how expensive everything is!"

Astrid Hakenbroch of West Germany found America "delightful from the very beginning" since junior Martha Nichols and her family accepted her so readily. When she found time from German Club, Travel Club, Round Table, and orchestra, Astrid relaxed with her hobby of writing letters, although she remarked that her letter-writing was "more of a necessity than a hobby." When asked to express the value of AFS in her opinion she said "It's the best thing that ever happened to me in all my life!"

Senior Amy Smith participated in the AFS summer program. Amy spent the summer directly following her junior year in Calcutta, India with a family of five. She experienced cultural changes such as vegetarianism and yoga. Although she "saw no elephants" she did see India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, the Taj Mahal, and "cows everywhere!"

Vice President Tom Latimer reported that despite the deflation in price of talent show tickets, AFS funds showed an increase over the previous years due to the success in bond sales. Other officers were President Tim Vaughan and the executive committee composed of Amy Smith, Marianne Windrow, and Eben Price.

Seniors Present Stage Version of 'Charley'

Laughter mingled with tears was the audience reaction to two moving performances of the 1972 senior play, "Flowers for Algernon."

This take-off on the motion picture "Charley," related parts of the life of a young retarded man, portrayed by Don Farmer, who underwent brain surgery to improve his intelligence.

From experiments on the mouse Algernon, Eben Price, as Professor Nemur, and Jim Trumbley, as Dr. Strauss, planned an operation for Charley. With the moral support of his teacher Alice Kinnian, played by Betty Buckley, Charley recovered from his operation. Margaret Downs and Ben McKinley portrayed Charley's parents.

Student director Caroline Gay assisted director Mrs. Carla McGee, while business manager Matt Porter handled the monetary matters. Stage managers Anne Cleaver and Judie McConnell calmed the cast backstage, as Mike Watson kept the actors in the spotlight. Other crew heads included Cindy Terry, costumes, Trip Forman, sound, Kari Addington, properties, and Cindy Stevens, make-up. Laura Sears handled the publicity for the December 8 and 9 performances.

Bad Weather Brings Early Vacation; Choirs Present Christmas Programs

Icy Streets provided HP students with an early Christmas present as schools closed for two days because of the bad weather.

Members of the Lads and Lassies missed even more school as they presented Christmas programs for the Rotary Club, Caruth Rehabilitation Center, and Blanton Gardens during school hours. Highlandaires and Choralaies spread Christmas cheer as they caroled at Childrens Medical Center, Scottish Rite Hospital, and St. Paul's Hospital.

Seniors presented the poignant play "Flowers for Algernon." The play was directed by Mrs. Carla McGee

BOY'S Y-Teens challenged the junior football boys to a charity basketball game during advisory period. Although handicapped by being tied together in pairs at the wrists, the boys managed to eke out a victory. Proceeds from the game went to the March of Dimes. For another charity project, the Hi-Lites Red Cross Committee made Christmas stockings that were distributed by the Red Cross Center.

Teachers Receive Unexpected Gifts, Encourage School Spirit in January

Returning from Christmas vacations, students relieved their homesickness for the halls of Highland Park by attending school on Saturday, taking final exams, and entering second semester classes.

"The Days of Wine and Roses," provided the theme for the annual winter Hi Lite Dance. Formally attired Scots grooved to the strains of "Sundance" in the girls' gymnasium.

Recognition came to ten senior Scots with the admission of Hi Park's National Merit Semifinalists to the nationwide publication, Who's Who Among American High Schools. Other honors attained by Scots included a first-place win for Fran Nelson in the TCU debate tournament, and placement in the All-State Choir for seniors Evanne Browne, Diane Daniels, Mike Clark, and Robert Lockett, with junior Janie Roberts earning the position of second alternate in the choir.

Fred Toumin emerged as champion of the Leo Club's second annual Ping Pong tournament. The club elected Julie Barry as Ping Pong Queen. Choir students began rehearsals on their spring production of "Hello Dolly" to be presented on March 1, 2, and 3.

Fortune smiled on two teachers as Mr. Ogden Kidd won a five-speed bicycle in a drawing and Mrs. Gynne Manson received a $1,000 prize from a local gasoline station. Student Jean Lambert and Richard Graves supported the March of Dimes by dancing 24 hours in a charity dance marathon.

The fighting Scots ended their football memories with the football banquet January 10 in the school cafeteria. Tim Tiece received the title of "Forgotten Lineman" with Coach Bailey naming Sam Gibbons as "Fight-'n'est Scot," and Rusty Farabee as "Most Conscientious Scot."

February Flowers Capture Friendship, Love

With the weather constantly changing from warm to cold, February moods ranged from sentimental for Valentine's Day to patriotic for the release of prisoners of war.

The American Field Service sponsored the annual carnation sale which enabled Scots to send a flower to the first period room of someone special.

Following the Valentine mood, the Student Council gave an appreciation tea for the faculty.

Some Scots wearing POW and MIA bracelets celebrated the return of "their men" while others waited impatiently for more prisoners to be released from Viet Nam.

Five All-State Choir members visited San Antonio to participate in All-State festivities early in the month.

Key Club members elected Junior Ann Stewart as HP's Key Club Sweetheart. Ann competed with other "sweethearts" for the district title.

Rodeo Club members spent one Saturday participating in the activities at the Fort Worth Stock Show.

A style show sponsored by Mr. Umphrey's Boutique "highlighted" the girls' club's programs for February. Spring clothes, Varsity basketball players, and Mr. Umphrey's version of Jonathan Logan were special attractions.

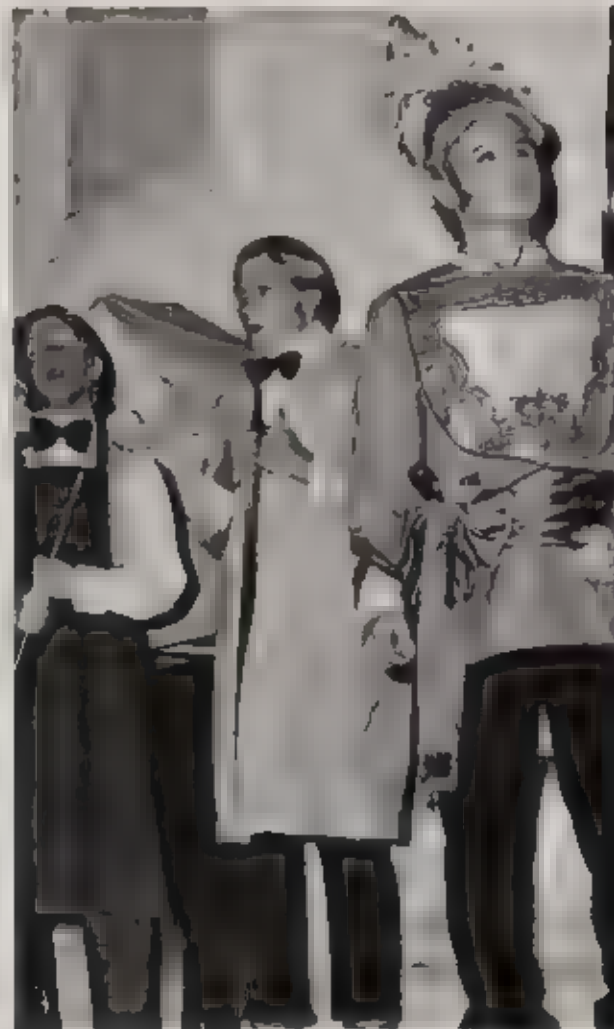

Ending the month of February, Highland Park hosted a speech competition tournament for 39 schools. The two-day tourney included competition in debate, oratory, duet acting, and prose and poetry interpretation.

Choir Department Stages 'Elegant' Musical

Romance and the gaiety of the 1890's captured the eye of the audience viewing the production of "Hello Dolly!" presented by the choirs and orchestra on March 1, 2 and 3.

Portraying the matchmaking and sly ways of Dolly Levi involved many laborious rehearsals and much concentration on the part of the cast.

Choir director, Mr. Don Waugh supervised the production aided by student director Margaret Downs. Choreographer Mr. Phil Johnson taught dancers difficult lifts and arranged the hectic waiters' gallop. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Arlington Judefind livened the production with such numbers as "The Motherhood March" and "Elegance."

Stage manager, Rick Hennekes got things under control back stage, and stage crew head Mike Clark kept busy arranging the many sets. Sound man Harry Storey maintained the right pitch throughout the musical.

Students Select Favorites in January Ballot

KIRK DOOLEY

JULIE BARRY

Scots chose eight outstanding personalities from the entire student body as their choices for Highlander favorites. Leadership and strength of character were considered as students voted in January.

Besides being one of the Senior Representatives to the Student Council, Kirk Dooley led the Fellowship of Christian Athletes as its president. Kirk wrote sports for the Bagpipe editorial staff and included soccer, basketball, and intramurals in his athletic interests.

For her active enthusiasm and support, cheerleader Julie Barry was honored as a Homecoming nominee. Selected as the Leo Club Ping-Pong Queen her senior year, Julie held memberships in Hi-Lites, Curtain Club, and Junior Civitans.

MARIANNE WINDROW

EBEN PRICE

Head cheerleader Marianne Windrow not only actively followed all athletic activities but also carried out her duties as A.F.S. Publicity Chairman. She played intramural sports and was president of the Girls' Rifle Club in her junior year.

Eben Price combined his wit and journalistic skills as co-editor of the Bagpipe. In his sophomore and junior years, he served as a class representative to the Student Council. Invited to join N.H.S. as a junior, Eben was named as a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. He also won numerous awards for his entries in speech competition.

HODDY PECK

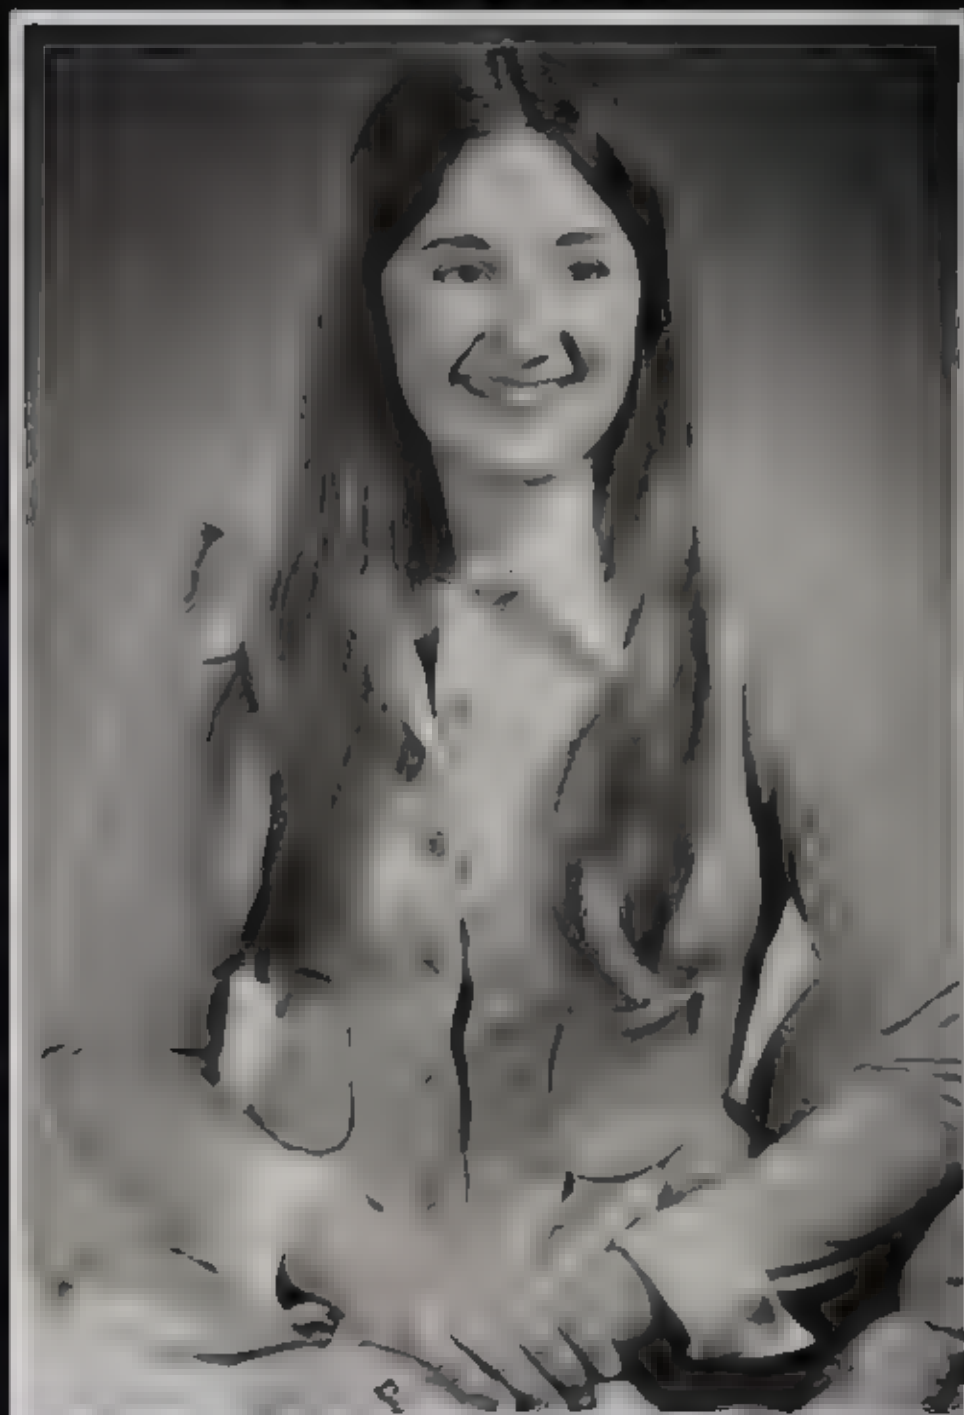

Student Council secretary Laura Sears was well-qualified for her job after having served as the Council's treasurer her junior year. As a senior, Laura became a member of N.H.S. and also represented University Park in the Miss Flame contest.

A natural leader and performer, varsity cheerleader George O'Dwyer drummed up Scot enthusiasm at pep rallies. George was involved in the Leo Club and was also active in the HP Rodeo Club. Besides his school activities, George entered the Dallas Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament, where he was known in the ring as "Smokin' George."

In leading the football team, co-captain Hoddy Peck played both offensively and defensively, and merited the title of All District Honorable Mention for his efforts. Hoddy also served as secretary of the Key Club and was chosen to be a member of the National Honor Society during his junior year.

Coronation of the Homecoming Queen highlighted cheerleader Bonnie Jericho's senior year as she was honored with the title for her loyal support of the football team. Functioning as vice-president of N.H.S., Bonnie organized activities for the club. She worked on the Highlander, too.

Cheerleaders Receive Awards, Boost Spirit

Constant efforts to keep spirit behind all the school sports, weekly meetings to plan pep rallies, and excursions braving the extremities of Texas weather made up a frenzied schedule for cheerleaders.

Varsity cheerleaders, headed by Marianne Windrow with Frank Baird, Julie Barry, Bonnie Jericho, Les Keliher and George O'Dwyer attended summer cheerleading school August 6-11. At the school, the cheerleaders learned some new cheers like "Two-bits chant," a crowd favorite, "Gotcha," and "Move it."

Spirit reached through all grades as underclassmen boosted their teams to victories. Sponsored by Mrs. Jewell Hodge, the "B" team cheerleaders were Jenny Haughton, Anne Henry, Jennifer Jericho, and Leila Shannon. The freshman cheerleaders also sponsored by Mrs. Hodge were Ann Fox, Kathy Little, Kay Cory, Mary Price, Tam Willis, Lee Taylor, Becky Ray, and Charlotte Thompson.

Directors Notify Tuition Students Of Court Ruling

Problems arose early for the Board of Education as Federal Judge Justice of Tyler ruled that students living outside the district and paying tuition were not complying with federal integration policies.

With enrollment less than three weeks away, the School Board had to act immediately in accordance with the ruling. The Board notified the families of the 82 students affected that they could no longer send their children to Highland Park, as a solution to this problem, some parents chose to buy a residence in the district.

Not as greatly publicized, but also important, was the job of passing and preparing the budget, which coincided with setting the salary schedules of teachers and personnel.

The School Board consisted of seven members: Mr. Walter M. Spradley, president, Dr. Elgin W. Ware, vice-president, Mr. Trevor Rees-Jones, finance officer; Mrs. Robert Bush, secretary; Mr. Arthur Z. Barnes, Mr. Lee R. Slaughter, Jr.; and Dr. John E. Eisenlohr, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Arch H. McCulloch.

Aside from his many administrative duties, Mr. Frank Monroe interviewed new teacher applicants and headed the textbook committee which was responsible for updating the supply of current books.

Hi Park Mourns Loss of Board President

With the death of Mr. Arch H. McCulloch on October 13, Highland Park lost a long-time leader and friend.

A resident of Dallas since 1904, Mr. McCulloch was a lawyer who held such distinguished positions as secretary of the Texas Centennial legal department and membership on the first editorial board of the Texas Law Review.

Mr. McCulloch contributed greatly as one of the chief architects in the building of the Highland Park school system. Appointed to the school board in 1950, he was elected in the next regular election and re-elected repeatedly in following elections. Mr. McCulloch served as the board's president from 1954 until his death. Mrs. McCulloch died in August of 1972.

In honor of Mr. McCulloch's services to the Highland Park school system, the middle school will officially be renamed the Arch H. McCulloch Middle School next fall.

MR. AND MRS. ARCH H. McCULLOCH were enthusiastic supporters of the HP sports program.

A LARGE LETTER from Armstrong teachers in 1967 showed their appreciation.

MR. ARCH H. McCULLOCH

Principal Revises Old Dress Code, Establishes D.E.

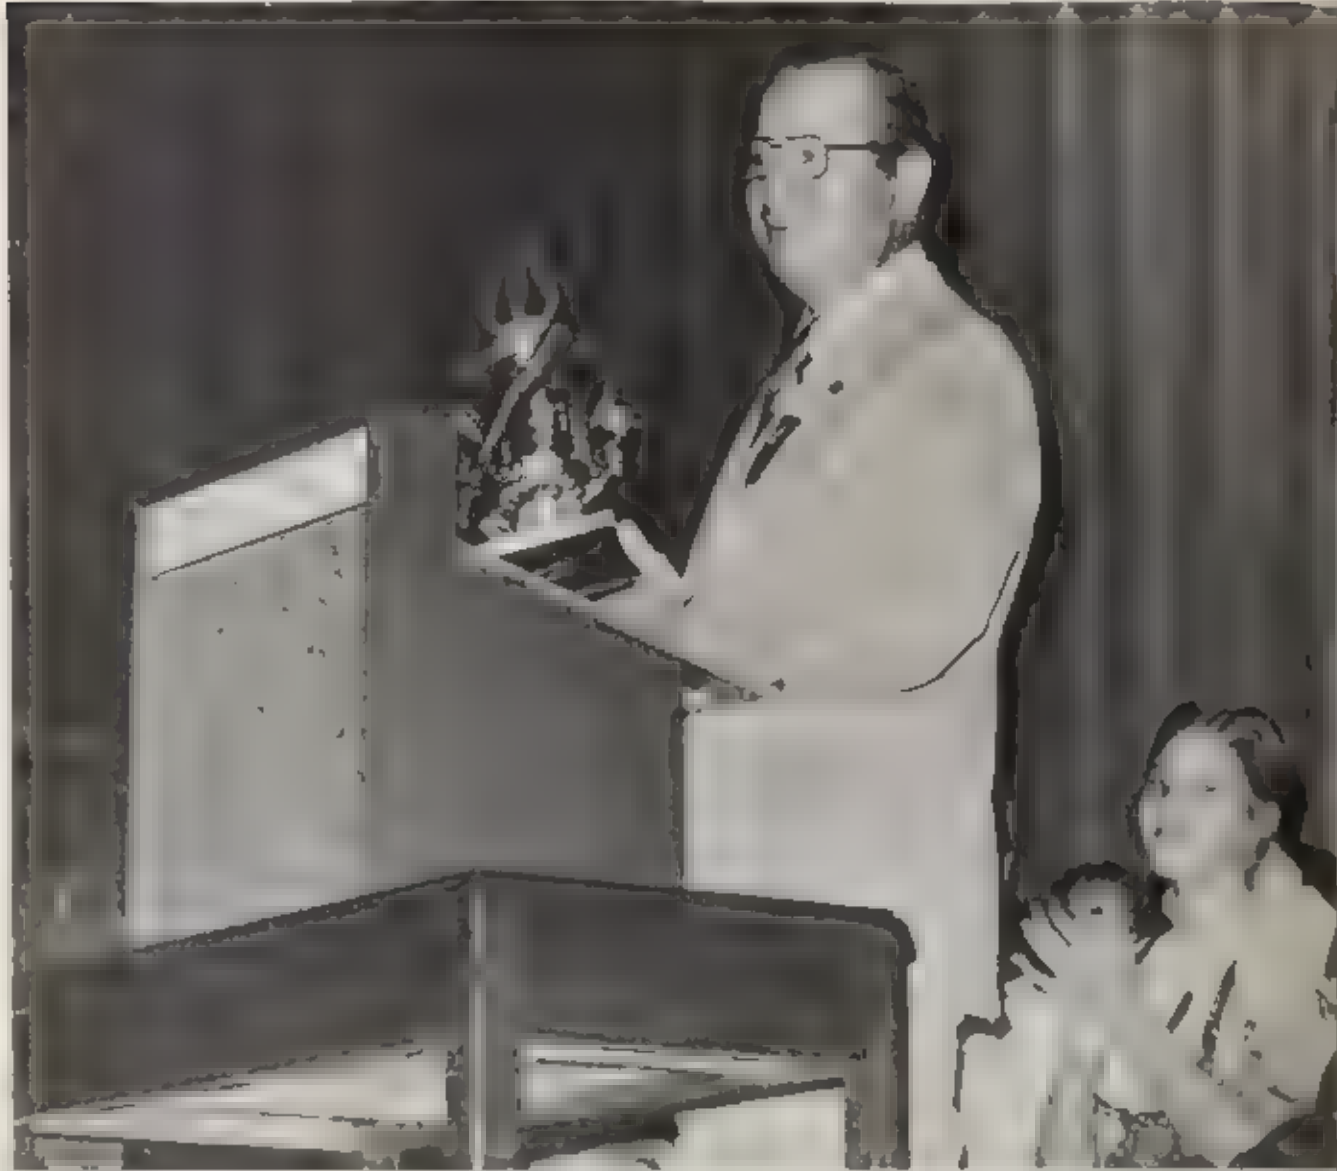

Principal Everett Hart improved Highland Park's curriculum by authorizing the addition of a course in Distributive Education for students interested in learning about business.

After assisting with the organizing of the Distributive Education Course, Mr. Hart coached faculty members on the use of the new closed circuit television installed last spring. Teachers learned ways television could be used to broaden their curriculum.

Ratification of the new dress code marked another change instituted by Mr. Hart, who wanted to update the school dress regulations. A board composed of several students, Mrs. Rider, and Dr. Sigler submitted a proposal to Mr. Hart for his approval.

In September, Mr. Hart accepted the state University Interscholastic League Music trophy for Highland Park and expressed his enthusiasm for the music department's active participation in state and local competition.

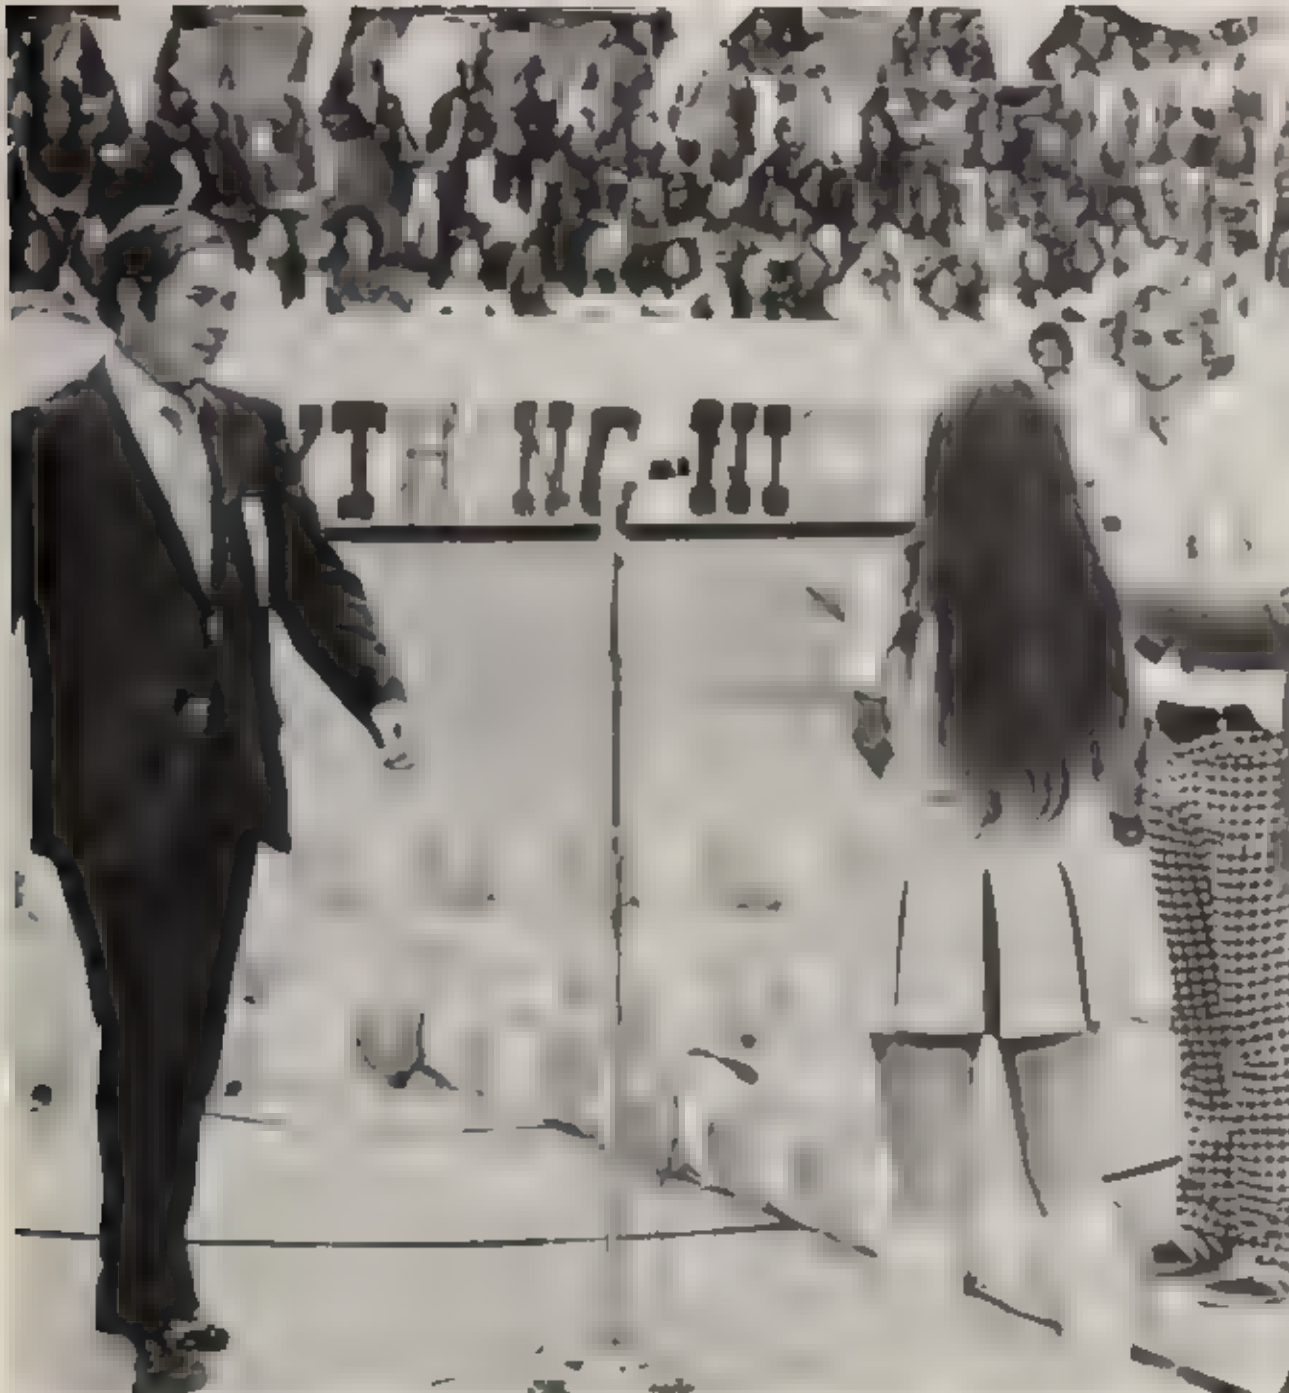

Highland Park's principal for seven years, Mr. Hart earned his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from East Texas State University and the University of Texas.

Administrators Aid Faculty Basketball Team

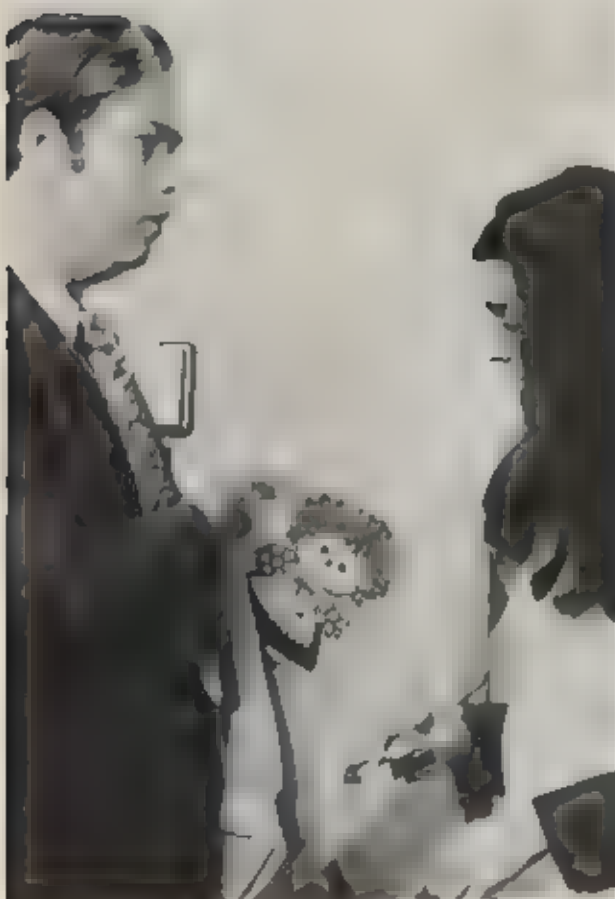

MR. MUNROE AND Dr. Sigler accept the spirit stick from varsity cheerleaders

Class administrators Dr. E. A. Sigler and Mr. Tom Munroe joined forces in solving students' problems. On the rebound, they still found the energy to "volunteer" for the faculty basketball team.

An assistant principal to the ninth and eleventh grades, Mr. Munroe held many responsibilities. He issued all state textbooks and grade reports and supervised scheduling. Another of Mr. Munroe's responsibilities was planning the school calendar, along with sending reports to the Southern Association of Accredited Schools. At North Texas State University he attended night classes for his doctoral degree in educational leadership.

Dr. Sigler finished his doctoral degree in the field of educational administration at North Texas State University. In charge of pupil personnel services to the tenth and twelfth grades, Dr. Sigler served as administrator of the Student Council and worked with the HP Improvement Committee. Other duties included maintenance operation, teacher visitation, and administration of the custodial staff.

Dr. Sigler and Mr. Munroe served one month each as administrators of the summer school session. During their vacations, they traveled to the Gulf Coast with their families.

Faculty Navigates Mississippi River, Ventures to Europe, South America

Literary and musical classics such as Mark Twain's Life on the Mississippi and Jerome Kern's "Old Man River" took on a personal meaning last summer for Mrs. C. Q. Smith, typing and business teacher.

Mrs. Smith and her husband spent ten weeks in a houseboat exploring the Mississippi and Arkansas Rivers. Mrs. Smith described the experience as the greatest trip she had ever taken.

Wanderlust gripped other HP teachers, ready to get away from it all. Mrs. Doris Plumlee, who visited seven South American countries, witnessed the people's resistance to the Communist takeover in Chile, while Mrs. Carla McGee, who, even on vacation, couldn't get away from students, escorted sophomore Christie Davis and senior Matt Porter to England on a school-sponsored tour. Another Highland Park teacher transplanted to England for the summer was Miss Paula Duckworth who received a scholarship to study a course in "The Augustans: Literature, Art, Architecture, and Music" at the University of London.

Diversified activities occupied the homebodies, ranging from Mrs. Jewel Hodge's painting her house to Colonel Joe Hill's training army officers at Fort Bragg. Mrs. Kathryn Conover moved to Dallas from San Francisco. As head waterfront counselor, Mrs. Kay Fisher instructed swimming at Camp Nakanawa in Tennessee. Mrs. James A. Sargent sponsored a family reunion at Lake Dallas.

The great outdoors lured several teachers away from the city life. Fishing was the lure for Principal Everett Hart and Mr. Lee Roberts. While backpacking on Mount Elbert, the highest peak in Colorado, Ms. Jean G. Henry trekked into and out of a blizzard.

Teachers Pursue Daring Hobbies During Summer

In pursuit of diversified hobbies and interests, Highland Park teachers filled off-duty hours with camping, sailing, painting, and music.

Hunting for antique dolls from the pre-Civil War period and early 1900's, Miss Lynn L. Logue journeyed to antique sales, as Mrs. Eleonora Guzman traveled the dogshow circuit with her purebred Dalmatians and Maltese.

Showing their creativity, Mr. John Hanscom constructed model ships, and Mrs. Dolores Coker participated in the John Baes theater group of Greenville, Texas.

In order to meet the rigid physical requirements for hall duty, Coach Orville L. Jones kept in shape with karate, handball, and tennis. Mrs. Rebecca Sykes relished the competition of sailboat racing.

As often as the weather permitted, Mr. Don Waugh and Mr. Bruce C. Orr put their green thumbs to work in their gardens, and Ms. Jean G. Henry and Mr. David G. McElwee went camping and boating.

Coin-collector Coach A. F. McCreary searched for additions to his collection while philatelist Mrs. Margaret A. Taylor catalogued her commemorative stamps of artists and their artwork.

Mrs. Candace K. Andrews improved her culinary skill, specializing in Mexican food, with chicken enchiladas her favorite, as Miss Mary Neaves supplemented her wardrobe by developing a knack for sewing.

Teachers Attend Workshops in Summer

MRS. CLORLENE BARNETT, English teacher, views a book in her English class.

To most students summer meant anything and everything but school, but to many teachers, summer meant attending colleges and workshops in Texas, Oklahoma, and Oregon.

SML proved one of the most popular summer "resorts." Mrs. Clorlene Barnett took courses in Greek philosophy and modern American literature. A mathematics curriculum improvement study conference attracted math teachers Miss Catherine Walters and Mrs. Gloria Hamilton. Mr. Cecil Homes, Mrs. Patricia Irvin, and Mr. Mike Sorrells all enrolled in a course in the evolution of man and culture.

At North Texas State University Mr. David May, Miss Dianna Bowen, and Dr. E. A. Sigler furthered their education, with Dr. Sigler completing work on his doctor's degree.

Studying Latin and Greek civilization at the University of Texas at Austin was Miss Sharon Hooper's chief occupation. Also attending UT were Mr. Donald O'Quinn, who enrolled in a nuclear science seminar, and Mrs. Bette Roeder, who completed her master's degree, except for the thesis.

While most teachers remained close to home, Miss Virginia Mason taught a course for specific language disability at Southern Oregon college at Medford, Oregon. Mr. Bob Jordan traveled to Arkadelphia, Arkansas, to the Henderson State Band camp. The National Science Foundation in Stillwater, Oklahoma, instructed economics teacher Mr. Jimmy Lee.

English Class Adapts Legends to Television

Junior major works English classes played TV's "Hollywood Squares" to examine the satirical and historical aspects of Gulliver's Travels.

Freshman English classes used the new video-tape system as a method for presenting films on the Miracle Worker. Mrs. Mary Dillard's students adapted Arthurian Legends to television with such productions as "The ToKnight Show" and "As the Table Turns."

Emphasizing point of view, tenth grade English classes made an extensive study of satire by reading "A Modest Proposal" and "The Disposable Man" and writing their own satire.

Seniors brought a sackful of magazine clippings, gadgets, and pictures representing those things important in their life to Miss Hortense Watkins's class at the first of the year. A humanities approach of man and his problems improved students' understanding of the play, Death of a Salesman.

New films on basic reading methods aided Miss Virginia Mason in teaching speed-reading classes. Students used Reading for Meaning to increase their vocabulary and understanding in Developmental Reading.

Pupils enrolled in journalism classes undertook broadcast journalism by taping a newscast and commercial but also continued their study of printed journalism involving copy, headlines, and captions.

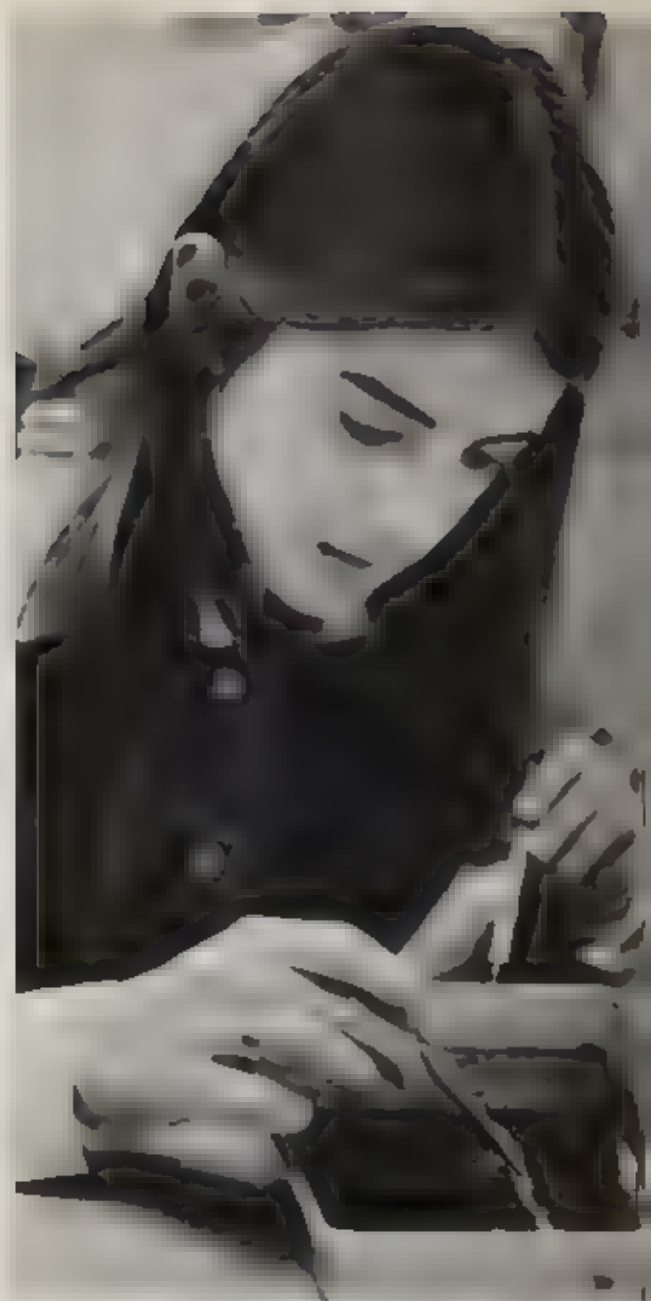

Speech students learned techniques of diction, voice, and body movements necessary for developing poise in public speaking. Advanced speech classes applied basic techniques to discussion, debate, and oral interpretation of prose and poetry.

Competitive speech classes won sweepstakes at two tournaments, and Mrs. Carla McGee accepted a trophy at a January student assembly for their outstanding participation.

BELOW LEFT While investigating the planetarium on their own, Liz Lawson and Sa Coleman discover stars a bit more difficult to locate.

Astronomers Study Heavens, Stars; Microscopes Useful as Biology Aid

Homemade telescopes consisting of a ruler with two lenses on either end magnified the interests of the astronomy class.

Good weather in the early part of the year led a select number of Mr. Don O'Quinn's class out to a Rockwall farm to watch stars. In class, stargazers computed rotation periods of the planets and the rotation of the sun spots while learning more about the moon, comets, and meteors.

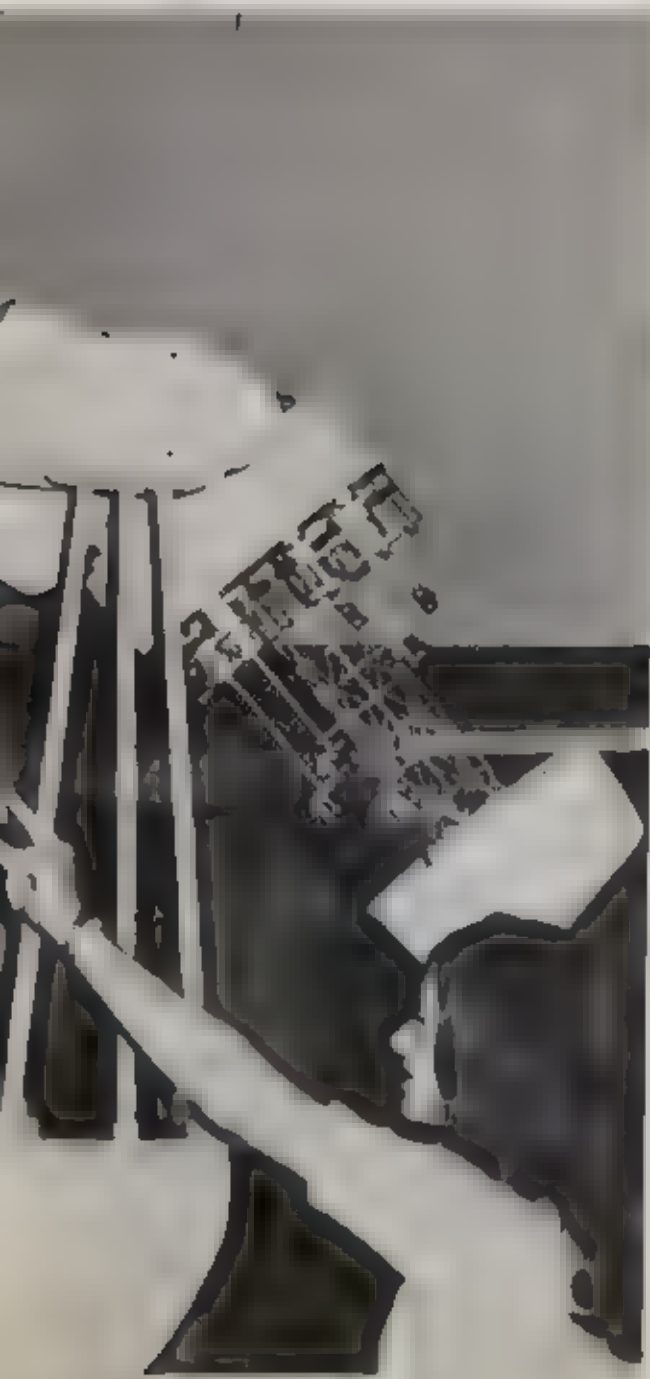

Mathematics proved useful to physics students when they began working with pulleys and learning about wave lengths. Qualitative physics and chemistry, taken by juniors and seniors only, briefly touched upon the theories of atomic energy and investigated environmental pollution.

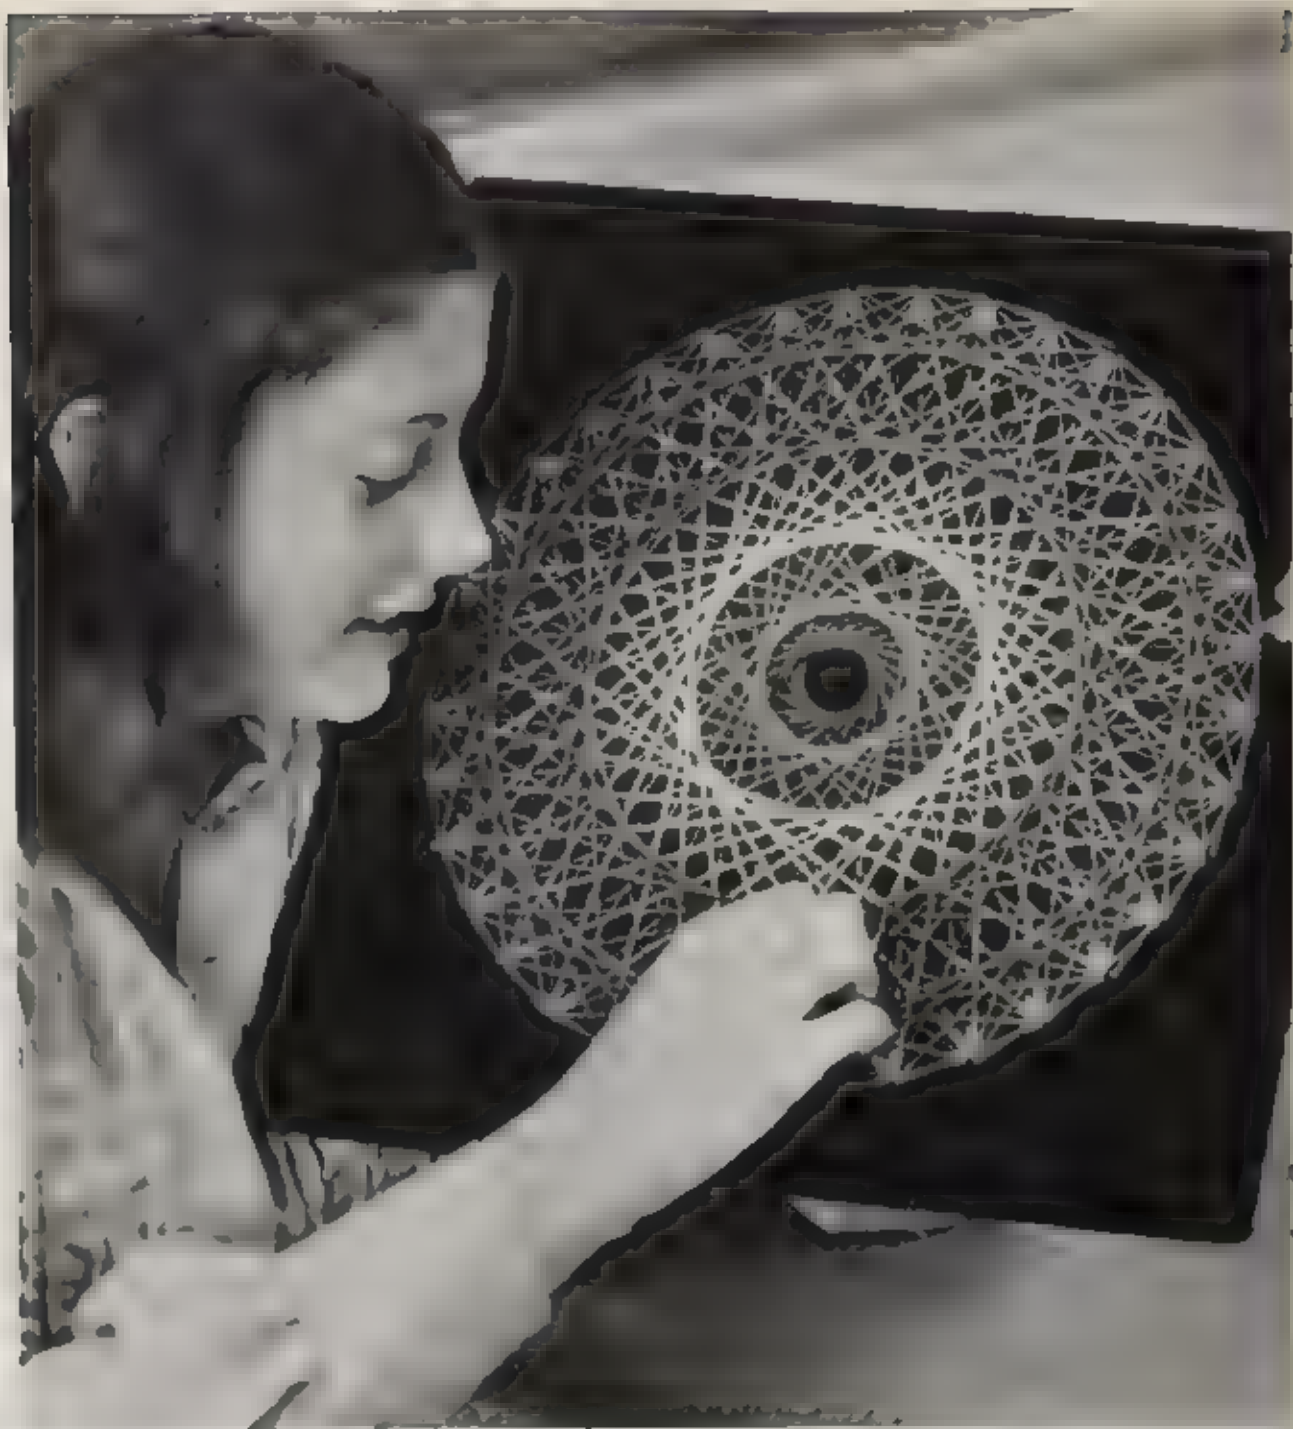

Chemistry classes performed flame tests along with heat and chemical reaction experiments. Students explored the inner structure of atoms by using electron configurations. Scientists in Mr. Lee Roberts's major works class built models of bonding molecules and tested metal and acid chemical reactions.

Microscopic organisms, bacteria cultures, along with other substances from the Protista kingdom, bounced and bumped on slides prepared by biology classes for observance under the microscope. Mrs. Margaret Sauer's major works classes participated in the annual Science Fair, displaying what they had learned by making projects.

Experiments dealing with the varied factors of friction and properties of water prepared freshmen in Introductory Physical Science for future years in chemistry and physics classes. Lab work demanded much of these unexperienced IRS students time as they built foundations for study.

Algebra Students Include Projects In Course Study

Major works algebra students summed up the semester by adding algebraic creations to the usual math curriculum

As a first time requirement, the projects stupefied the classmates. Students of Mrs. Gloria Hamilton's classes selected the best projects and videotaped a program using the new audio-visual aids in the library

Students of Miss Mary Neaves's geometry classes created colorful curve stitchings which provided figures for geometric problem-solving. For extra credit, Mrs. Kathryn Conover's algebra classes designed original creative drawings on graph paper

Mathematically minded students tied HP with another school at the W.T. White "Mathathon," with Mike Watson and Glenn Cooper taking first places in their divisions

Foreign Menu Whets Language Appetites

Kuby's restaurant provided atmosphere for German hungry students to practice the language and devour the food

The German classes of Mrs. Sylvia McElroy discussed plans for another visit to Kuby's and a trip to the Texas Association of German Students Convention at East Texas State University Latin students compared President Nixon's inauguration speech with ancient oratories. A field trip to the Bridwell library to see old manuscripts contributed to the studies of Miss Mary Hardin's Latin classes.

The fifth-year Spanish class wrote, produced, and directed a puppet show using a bulletin board converted into a colorful stage. Students of Miss Diane Cook's third-level class displayed their talents by producing puppet shows of "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Hansel and Gretel" in Spanish.

A field trip to the art museum proved both instructive and entertaining for Miss Eileen Steensen's French classes. Students viewed French Impressionist paintings and listened to a lecture by Mrs. Walter Brudno.

Political Races Attract Students; History Classes Discuss Documents

Government students involved in the 1972 political campaign ardently supported their party by distributing bumper stickers and campaign buttons and canvassing voters at party headquarters.

Focusing on current issues, American History pupils played simulation games. Miss Carol Hooper introduced oral history, a teaching technique which involved students in interviewing people who lived during the depression and World War II.

Advanced Placement history classes used inquiry learning during group discussions. The group pointed out a singular aspect of a historical document and put it up for debate. Mrs. Anice Rhodes taped one discussion of the radical and conservative causes of the American Revolution and presented it to the faculty at a September teachers' meeting.

For the first time, economics became a required course for graduation instead of an elective. The course included a supplementary book, Worldly Philosophers, to accompany the required curriculum.

Mrs. Doris Plumlee's world history students learned research techniques for special papers on Scandinavia. Oral reports and group work aided students' understanding of history.

Asian Studies celebrated its first year with the addition of more than 40 new books in the library. Class members accumulated their own paperback library for individual research and enjoyment. The program included speakers from foreign countries and lectures from SML professors.

Art Students Crewel Jean Patches; Sewing Classes Expand Wardrobes

Harem girls, jugglers, and even a monkey delighted audiences and received top billing in the choir's production of "Hello Dolly!"

The orchestra traveled to Corpus Christi to play in the Buccaneer Music Festival and then competed in the University Interscholastic League music contest in Dallas.

The Highlander Band received two first division ratings in contests in the fall and won $500 for placing second at the State Fair Parade of Champions.

Bright prints and frilly patterns gained attention from sewing students. Cooking connoisseurs prepared recipes and economical meals.

Art classes tested sketching ability by designing pictures using only two cooking pots, a branch, a plate, and leaves. Some artists learned to weave shawls and rugs, and others creweled jean patches for class credit.

Advanced mechanical drawing students let their imaginations go and designed parks, cabins, and large homes as beginners learned the fundamental steps of drawing right angles, measuring distances, and sketching three-dimensionally.

Woodshop students constructed water skis, stereo cabinets, chess boards, and pool cues, using table saws, drill presses, and electric sanders.

Shorthand and typing classes taught students how to take notes quickly and speedily type business letters and themes. Business law and elementary accounting included studies of corporation contracts, bank statements, and balancing of books and journals in their curriculum.

Girls Earn Physical Fitness Award; Boys' Classes Grapple, Lift Weights

Earning President's Physical Fitness patches kept both boys and girls on physical education classes on their toes during the fall and spring semesters. In the Run-Walk program, boys were more in shape than girls than the girls.

Boys' physical education classes started the first semester by playing flag football and basketball with weight lifting, wrestling and water polo on the agenda for the last 18 weeks. Golf and tennis added variation, giving boys a chance to prove themselves in other activities.

Early fall found girls' physical education classes outside practicing speedball skills. During the colder months girls played tenniquoits, basketball, and volleyball in the crowded but well-equipped girls' gym. Springtime activities included tennis, also played in winter by senior classes.

swimming for freshmen and sophomores, softball and square dancing.

Health, a one-semester requirement for freshman boys and girls, included safety precaution measures and instruction in disease control. Family living and nutrition units taught students more about personal care.

Preparing to receive a drivers' license, safety education students had 30 days of classroom instruction, followed by 12 hours of driving behind-the-wheel and observing. Classroom studies consisted of films, traffic rules and regulations, and defensive highway techniques.

ROTC students read maps, studied military strategy, and handled small arms and weapons during class time. The boys also took part in drill and rifle teams, displaying their abilities in both self-discipline and cooperation.

Offices Receive Carpets, Draperies; Library Admits Microfiche Readers

New carpets and bright draperies installed in the counselors' and attendance offices cushioned the noise of student's entering the offices and padded the nerves of the office workers.

Also new to the school were two new portable microfiche machines that updated the library into a more complete research center. The machines filled in broken runs of bound magazines and out-of-date books, and preserved old material. The use of the print-out machines enabled students to duplicate information from the microfiche machines.

Along with answering student's questions both personal and academic, counselors furthered other projects, introducing incoming freshmen with films set to contemporary music at the summer orientation.

Ailing students found aid in the clinic operated by school nurse, Mrs. Brantely C. Booe, Jr. The administration discussed plans to start health seminars the second semester.

Dads' Club, under the leadership of President Mr. Howard M. Slaughter, allocated money to the schools in the district. Subsidized by these funds High School teachers traveled to conferences in Austin and to SML. Bringing in speakers to talk on patriotism was another project led by the Club.

PTA members helped in the selection of controversial textbooks and operated the cafeteria. President Mrs. Addison A. Newport was assisted by Mrs. O. E. Dickinson and Mrs. Fred Addison. Along with the Dads' Club, the PTA sponsored Open House, Back-to-School Night, and College Night.

Council Provides Saturday Cartoon, Raises Funds for Upcoming Projects

Who says that Saturdays spent at school can't be fun? Thanks to the Presidents Club and Chairman David Wildman, students enjoyed episodes of the "Road Runner" and "Wiley Coyote." For a minimal fee, they viewed the films during advisory on one of the Saturdays scheduled to be made up due to a December ice storm.

Other money-raising projects included a film of the "Three Stooges" and profits from the fall bus caravans. An overwhelming number of students eager to find out that "certain person's" telephone number bought the Clan, the student directory. Council members also helped with the sale of Highlanders and AFS friendship bonds.

Due to the efforts of Glenn Cooper and the HP Improvement Committee, seniors enjoyed their customary privileges a semester early this year. Dress code rules were once again revised to allow more hair for boys and more pants for girls.

Teachers enjoyed a vote of gratitude from the Student Council at the teacher appreciation tea in February. Complementing the Valentine theme of the tea, cherry tarts and strawberry punch served as the main attractions, with five-dollar gold pieces and carnations for door prizes.

Social Committee members helped in the preparation and sponsoring of the "You've Got a Howdy Dance" and the Homecoming dance entitled "It's a Beautiful Day." Black lights, good music, and homemade cookies made the dances successful.

Mr. J. C. Labowitz, an SMU law student, instructed student representatives in the particulars of the Texas drug laws at one of the spring meetings. Under the direction of Miss Carol Hooper, Mr. Cecil Homes, and President Tim Doolittle, the Council invited the Reverend J. Claude Evans to speak to Juniors and Seniors at a Brotherhood Week assembly.

Artists, Writers, Business Board Produce Tartan

Slides and tapes of the Rolling Stones made by Tartan business board chairman Nancy Crisler were coordinated in a pay assembly which helped raise money for printing and producing the literary magazine.

Other business board members, including co-chairman Tim Vaughan, wrote letters asking for Tartan patronage. Selling Tartans before school, at advisory period, and at Open House concluded their duties.

With more than 80 poems and short stories submitted during the final week, Tartan literary board members divided into two groups led by chairman Kathy Biehl and co-chairmen Carla McFarland and Kate Stamets.

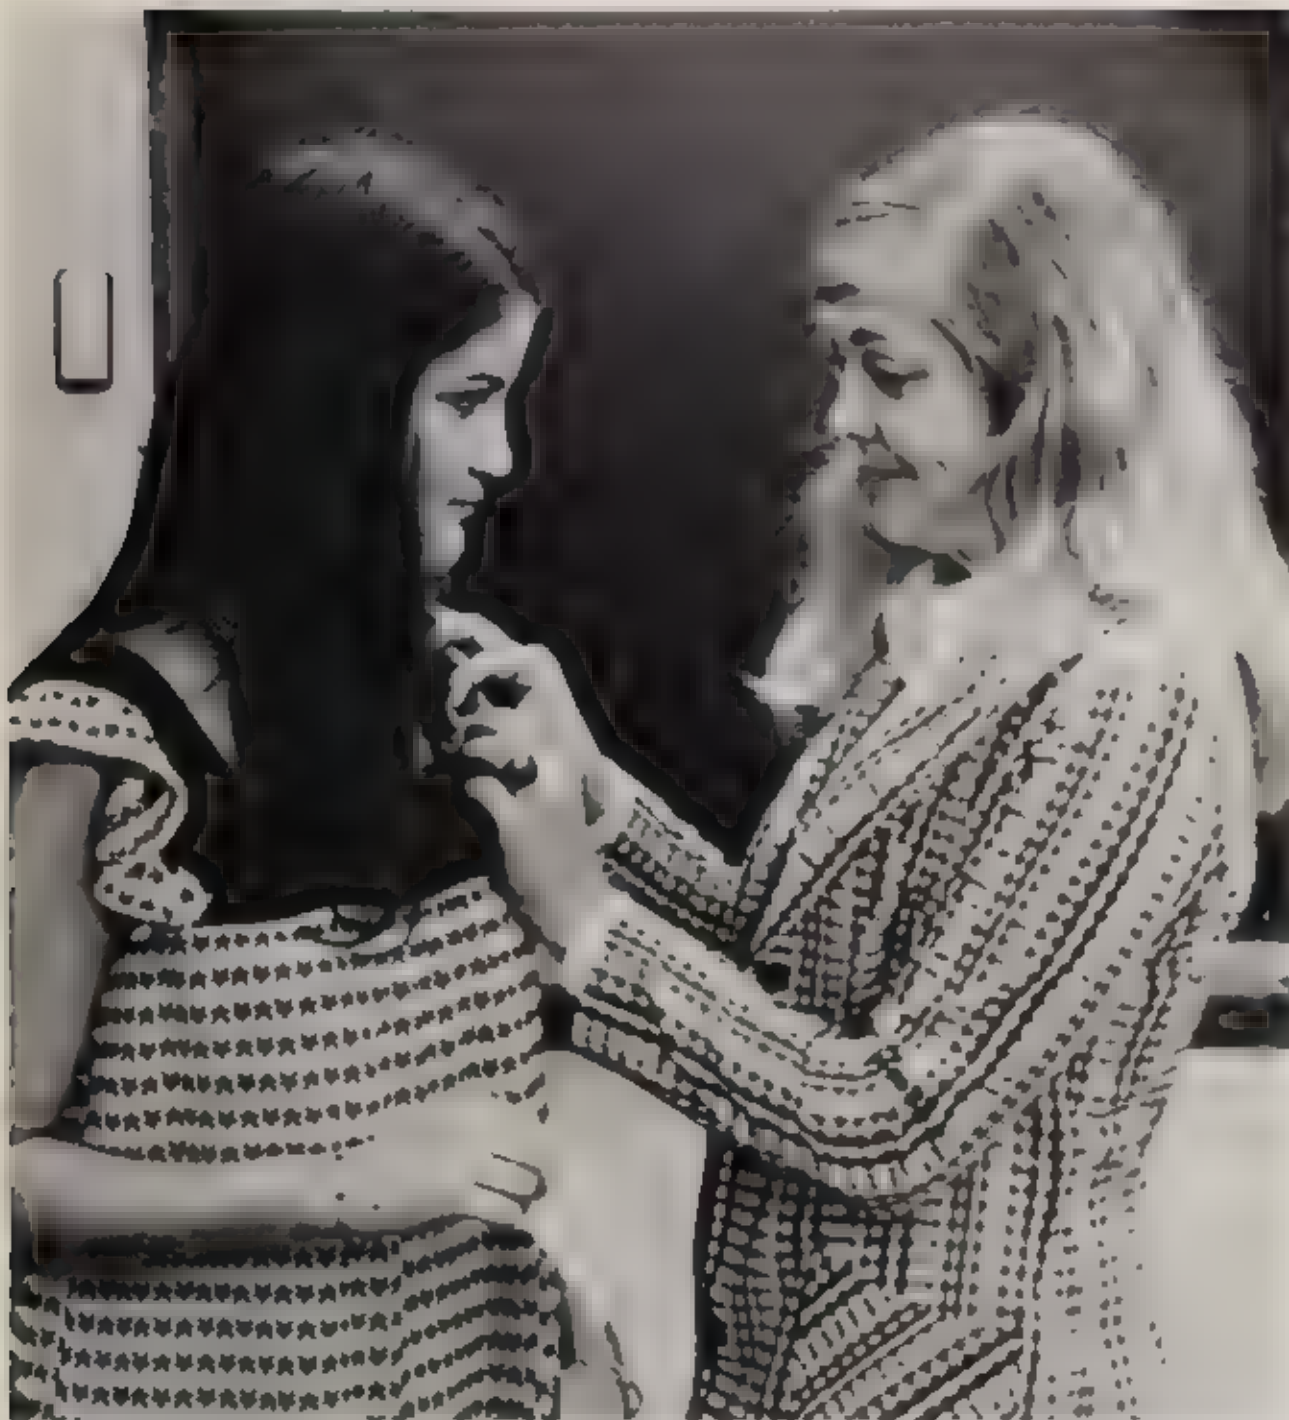

Under Mrs. Dorris Warburton's direction, members then voted on submitted material.

Chairmanned by senior Julie Brown, the art board illustrated the accepted material. Mrs. Mattie Childress supervised the Tartan's art work.

Mrs. Reyburn Myers took charge of printing 500 copies of the publication, which sold for $2 apiece.

Quill and Scroll Attends Dinner, Admits Staffers

Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalistic organization, received 37 new junior and senior members in a traditional candlelight initiation ceremony in May.

Members elected to the chapter in their junior year attended a dinner in October at T.G.I. Friday's restaurant and elected Amy Smith as president, Lee Allen as vice-president, Carol Becker as secretary, and Jane Powell as treasurer.

To qualify for membership in Quill and Scroll, a student must have worked on a publication staff for at least one semester, have ranked in the upper third of his class, and have a recommendation from his sponsor for doing outstanding work on the publication. Eligible juniors and seniors submitted applications for admission at the beginning of the spring semester.

With sponsor Mrs. Reyburn Myers, old and new members attended a get-acquainted dinner in March at the home of Amy Smith.

Cameras Misfire on Underclassmen; Street Signs Urge Highlander Sales

Cameras exploded in the photogenic faces of underclassmen during yearbook picture-taking sessions, typifying some of the catastrophes which confronted the 1973 Highlander staff.

The court decision concerning the zoning of Highland Park School District brought a near catastrophe for the editorial staff with the threatened loss of co-editor Carolyn Bigger, who solved the problem by moving.

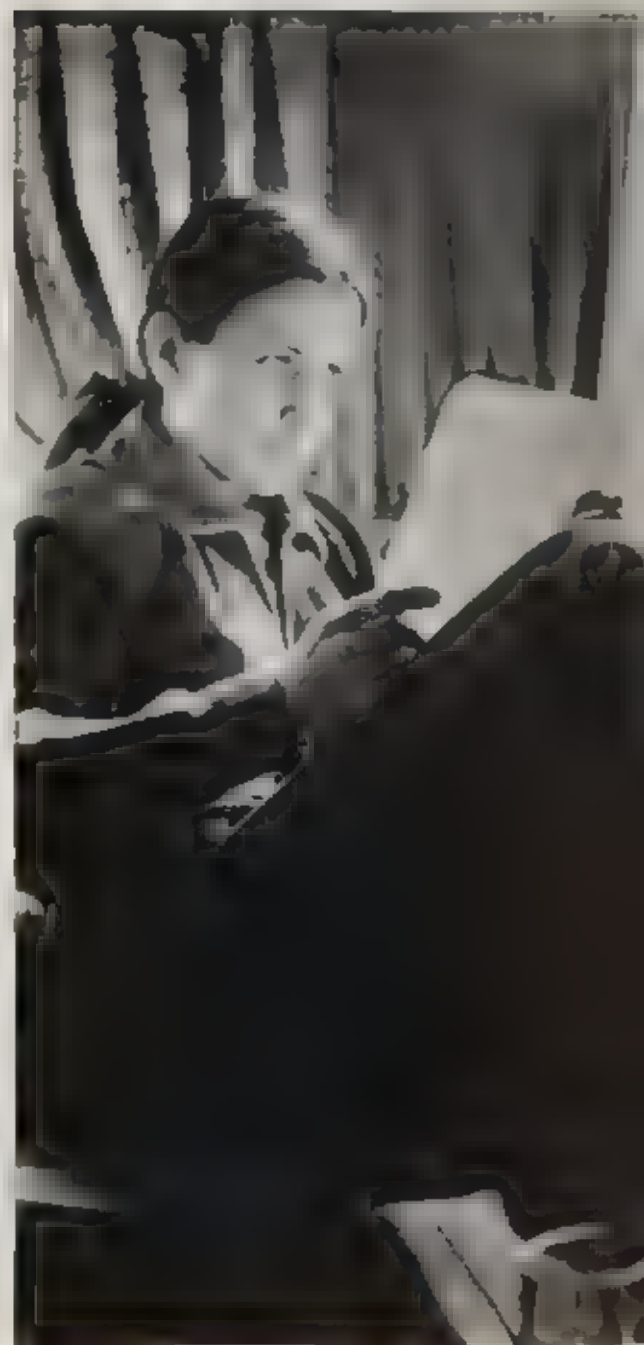

As their first task, the new editorial staff, headed by co-editors Jane Powell and Carolyn Bigger, produced the summer supplement. Mustering their forces in the fall, staff members relinquished weekend freedom to write copy, count headlines, and crop pictures at Saturday and Sunday work crews that seemed endless.

Spurred on by the urgings of business manager Tom Latimer, the business staff roamed the streets of Dallas selling ads to local merchants. Student Council representatives aided the staff in the sale of the Highlanders through the advisories. Colorful street sign posters incited students to buy Highlanders and helped to increase sales over last year, in spite of an overall drop in enrollment.

Meriting an A+ from the National School Yearbook Association, the 1972 Highlander received an All-American honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Association and a first place award from the Columbia Press Association.

At Tom's house, staff workers joined sponsor Miss Diane Cook and Mr. Ogden Kidd for a Christmas Party, complete with gift exchanges.

Hi-Lites Offers Special Dances To HP Females

George "Elvis Presley" O'Dwyer, a karate demonstration, and a musical program by Diane Daniels and Evanne Browne supplied unusual Thursday morning entertainment for Hi-Lite girls.

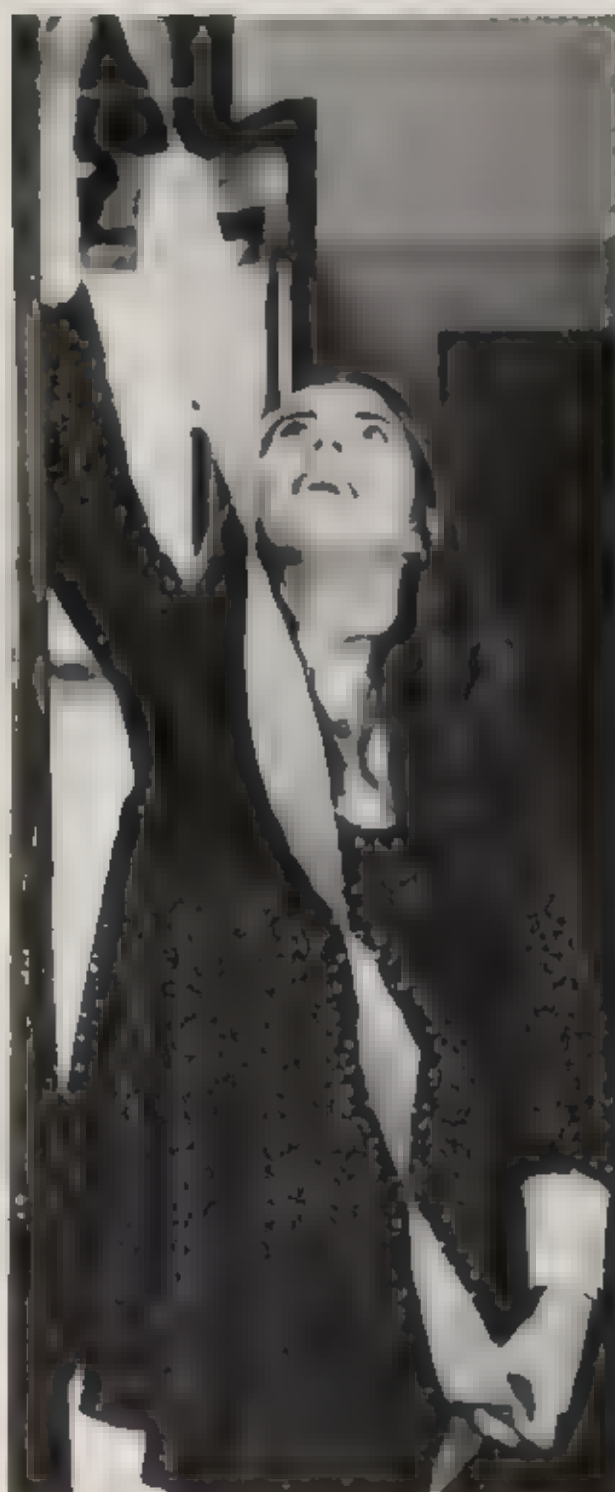

Hi-Lites made the first taste of high school a picnic at the annual Big Sister-Little Sister get-together. Evanne Browne and Laurie Littlejohn, the 1972-73 cheerleaders, and a skit by the officers provided the entertainment.

Jan Dickerson and the officers hosted the yearly Mother-Daughter tea at Jan's home in October.

In January and April girls took their dates to the two Hi-Lite dances, which provided scenes from "The Days of Wine and Roses" and the days of bobby socks in the fifties.

The Red Cross committee collected money and made Christmas stockings and Easter baskets for the local Red Cross branch. Social committee members decorated the girls' gym for the second semester dances.

Richard II, Oratory, Poetry Entertain Club

Acting as stage crew members, hearing monologues, and listening to selected members of the speech competition class rounded out the activities of the Curtain Club.

Led by president Melanie Svehla and vice-presidents Lynne Stebbins and Margaret Downs, members served as lighting, sound, and stage crews for the senior play.

Treasurer Anne Cleaver and secretary Betty Buckley took charge of club dues and correspondence to speakers and entertainers.

Monologues by Mr. John Hanscom as Richard II entertained members at a February meeting. Mary Anne Deaton presented her dramatic prose, which she entered in speech events.

Seniors Lynne Stebbins and Don Farmer provided an advisory period diversion with their duet acting. Oratory by Eben Price and prose interpretation by Celia Boynton gave members insight into speech events.

Striving for more member participation, Curtain Club officers arranged for group impromptu by members.

Choir Members Sing to Faculty, Present Musical

With each couple dressed as a phonebook ad, a "Yellow Pages" picnic in September ushered in new acquaintances for members of the Lads and Lassies Choir.

During the holiday season, choir members brought joy to charity organizations. Breaking the tradition of their usual hospital visitations, the choristers spread their Christmas cheer to teachers, students, and VIP's.

Choir members also surprised member Lynda Reading with Christmas carols at Baylor Hospital prior to her knee operation. Caroling concluded with refreshments at a Christmas Party at the home of Sally Bentley.

The Lads and Lassies presented concerts for several school assemblies. Members participated in the Great Commission Prayer Crusade at Moody Coliseum.

The choir also took part in an honor program for Jerry Heidenreich, the Olympic gold medal swimmer from SMU during October.

For the first time, L & L had the largest number of All-Region choir members in the area. Chosen from 14 participants, Evanne Browne, Mike Clark, Robert Lockett, and Diane Daniels became official members in the All-State Choir with junior Janie Roberts as a first alternate.

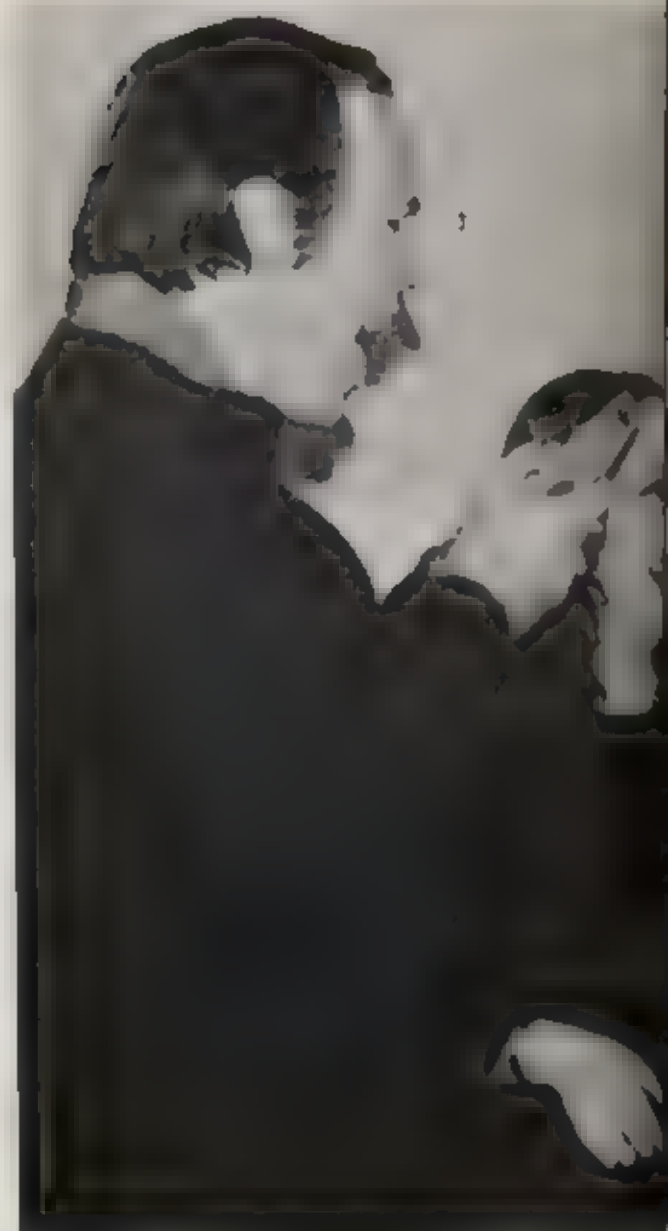

Choir members competed in the University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest in March.

Girls' Choir Entertains at Student Programs

Halloween provided a bewitching opportunity for a Highlandaires costume party, where witches and goblins enjoyed food and games.

The 45 member junior and senior girl choir presented fall assemblies for students October 17 and November 28.

Wishing to spread Christmas joy and cheer to those less fortunate, the girls caroled at several Dallas area hospitals December 10, ending with a festive yuletide party at the home of president Cindy Baird.

For the main money-raising project of the year, the girls tried their luck at selling Christmas cards.

The Christmas concert of combined choirs and orchestra, postponed because of icy streets, was presented to parents and students January 10.

In March, the choir entered ensemble, concert, and sight-reading events in the University Interscholastic League contest at Richland Junior College. The year ended on a happy note with a party to introduce the club's new officers and members.

In the fall, the choir held a garage sale to increase its funds, making more than $100. Revelaires joined the other choirs in selling Christmas cards, with Jon Sillers and Jose Gonzalez as the highest freshman and junior sellers

After rain canceled the halftime performance at the Garland game, choir members celebrated the new school year at a post-game party.

In January the choir joined the other HP choirs and orchestra in a Christmas concert. Spring activities included a lakeside picnic and an assembly presented to freshmen and sophomores on April 24

COUNCIL MEMBER Cindy Pope helps Carol Martin find aids for college in the college center

Even book worms need a balanced diet! Library Council members helped bookhungry students choose a nourishing menu from the well stocked shelves of the library.

Other duties of the 25-member council included assisting the library staff with typing, clerical work, and supervision of the circulation and reference sections.

Sponsored by librarian Mrs. Marguerite Creighton, the group met twice a month to receive a minimum of 45 minutes of instruction to aid them in their work. Monthly dinners offered an opportunity for relaxation.

The club's main project, revising the pre-college reading list, entailed much organization and numerous letters sent to major colleges.

Spanish Dancers Display Talents In Presentation

Flamenco dancers from the Dallas Ballet Theater entertained members of the Spanish Club in a presentation of the art of Spanish ballet. Films and a lecture instructed members in the basics of the dance's style and history.

Student guest speakers shared their summer experiences freely with the club as Libby Hunt and Pat Wessely related adventures of a tour through Spain. Toni Guzman, son of sponsor Mrs. Eleonora Guzman, told about his experiences as a participant in "Amigos," an organization formed to reach small South American villages with needed medical aid.

Advanced Placement Spanish students presented their original puppet show, "El Padrino," as a high point of the year's programming. Music, popcorn, and enthusiastic applause accompanied the production based somewhat loosely on "The Godfather."

Adding a final touch to the club's activities, a Christmas dinner and an end-of-the-year banquet gave members an authentic taste of Spanish life.

Club Members Host Contests, Donate Earnings

Highland Park's chapter of the Leo Club compiled all earnings from money-raising projects into one large contribution to the Cerebral Paisey Treatment center

Meeting on the first and third Wednesday of each month, members heard speakers from the Inwood Lions Club concerning project ideas. Lions Club sponsor Charlie Dexter planned and supervised the programs.

As its main project, the Leo Club held the second annual Highland Park Championship Ping Pong Tournament. After many eliminating rounds, junior Fred Toulmin emerged as champion for the second consecutive year, with junior John Reed coming in second.

The Leo Club board of directors conducted screening sessions to arrive at the membership quota of 45, leaving 30 boys on the waiting list. Directors included seniors Kirk Dooley, George O'Dwyer, Martin Peck, junior Judson Crow, and sophomore Bob Dickerson.

Spring activities included the annual garage sale and the first annual pie-eating contest, with students paying an entry fee for the privilege of being able to watch the event.

President Doug Thompson led the club, assisted by vice-president Craig Keeland, secretary Charles Adams, treasurer Bullitt Fitzhugh, and teacher-sponsor Mr. James Carter.

Mathematicians Submit Problems to Paper

GLENN COOPER PONDER'S with David Carney about who will pay the bill

Do parallel lines meet in eternity? This and other mathematical questions were discussed on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month by Math Club members.

The mathematicians submitted unusual problems to the Bagpipe, with "prizes" for the Scots who found the answers. Freshman Elizabeth Haughton correctly solved the problem concerning the division by three of 17 came's. A long division problem using letters also baffled math enthusiasts.

Mu Alpha Theta members entered National Math Contests, including competitions at the Hockaday School and White High School. Interested students were tested to determine their eligibility for the contests. Senior Glenn Cooper placed second in the boys' division at the Hockaday contest.

Sponsor Mrs. Kathryn Conover and algebra teacher Mrs. Kay Williams highlighted February meetings with their presentation about mobius strips. Along with Mrs. Conover, Mu Alpha Theta was led by president Frank Garrett, vice president Scott Solberg, and secretary Susan Pigeon. Club members celebrated the coming of Christmas with a December dinner at TGI Friday's in Old Town.

Dances, Talks Present Aspects Of Foreign Life

Demonstrations of Indian festival dances and summaries of excursions by students ranging from New Zealand to Russia were presented to Travel Club members.

Indoo Monga energetically demonstrated authentic Indian festival dances at one meeting, and AFS students Sara Mazal and Astrid Hakenbroch spoke of life in their countries, Uruguay and Germany.

Special presentations at meetings came from club members who had visited foreign countries. Jeff Sone told about his trip to Japan, Pat Wessely and Libby Hunt related adventures from their trip to Russia, and Betsy Hunt spoke of her experiences in Australia and New Zealand.

A program by Travel Club sponsor Mrs. Doris Plumlee highlighted spring meetings. Mrs. Plumlee shared experiences from her summer trip to South America and illustrated points of interest with photographs.

President Laurie Wilkin and sponsors Mrs. Plumlee and Miss Paula Duckworth provided leadership for the club. As a special treat, members enjoyed French cuisine at Marcel's restaurant in the spring.

Current Issues Inspire Round Table Talks

MISS REVUE FRENCH reveals the finer points of picnic etiquette. — CLARKE — 15

"Will the Olympics ever be the same again?" Such subjects motivated discussions twice a month by the 26 members of Round Table.

Individuals volunteered to lead controversial topics which the board selected from a list of subjects submitted by the group each semester. Aided by the discussion leader's outline the other members researched the topic

In this Presidential election year, the club concentrated on the possibilities of changing the electoral college. The members also expressed opinions on government regulation of medical care. Round Tables probed new trends in education such as visual aids, group encounters on drugs, and the teaching of sex education in schools.

The situation of the United States in the arms race inspired the group to examine competition of the United States, Russia, and Red China.

Besides researching and discussing these debatable topics, the group relaxed with picnics at White Rock Lake. Foreign exchange students Sara Mazal and Astrid Hockenbroch contributed an international perspective to the group. Latin Clubbers Hold Contests, Roman Banquet Five Latin Club members, sponsored by Miss Sharon Hooper, competed in the annual Texas Junior Classical League Competition.

Fort Worth served as the site for the event on March 2 and 3. Students from all over Texas prepared for contests in vocabulary, art, comprehension of Latin reading, history, and poetry.

Louise Brown, program chairman, or "praetor," varied the meetings with Latin-related games and different lectures. The games consisted of Latin bingo and Latin concentration. The club's 24 members also heard Johnny Knieff tell about his travels in Rome.

At other meetings, members worked on revising the State constitution of the Junior Classical League.

The traditional Roman banquet terminated the spring events with each student dressed in costume according to his grade classification, and dinner was served Roman style.

Keeping the club going were consuls David Ware and Wendy Williams, Quaestor John Kee, Scriba Beth Smith and Praetor Louise Brown.

BECKY BIGGERS and Beth Smith put life into Latin with a game of concentration.

Lassies Travel to Disney World in Florida

DEBBIE KERN HOPS at the chance to dance the "Highlander" fling for Scots

Highland Park's dancing and piping Lassies traveled about the state and even to Disney World in Florida bringing recognition to their unusual talent through their performances.

The Lassies, constituting the female portion of the Highlander Band, began their bagpipe training early last summer. Former Lassies instructed the newcomers in the organization and design of their costumes and the arts of piping and dancing.

The Lassies entertained Scots with their weekly pop rally performances. Clad in traditional Scottish attire, Lassies danced the Scottish sword dance to the piping of six pipers.

The Lassies presented three outstanding exhibitions commemorating the State Fair of Texas' Scott sh Day.

Lassies traveled to Salado, Texas, in November to participate in the annual Scottish Gathering of the Can, where they successfully competed in piping and dancing.

Honorary Lassies elected by the entire band included Head Lasse Libby Smith, Head Piper Vick Watson and Assistant Pipers Sarah Letot and Becky Sheen.

Band Anticipates Trip, Performs in Concert

With their sights set on performing at Disney World in June, band members undertook novel projects to finance the trip to Florida. Girl members sold candy, popcorn, and greeting cards, while the men organized garage sales and sold burglar alarms.

The marching Scots received first-division ratings in both the Bell-Hurst and University Interscholastic League marching contests for the fourth consecutive year. After an invitation to perform in the Parade of Champions contest in the Cotton Bowl, the band merited a trophy and $500.

Following the marching season, the concert band attended the Invitational Ennis Contest at McArthur High School and the UIL playing contest in North Mesquite.

The student body attended several spring assemblies, including concert and stage band programs, and the annual spring concert in Highlander Field House.

Concert, Sales Provide Money For Uniforms

Egg sales and a paid concert in November helped raise money to buy 50 new uniforms of red plaid skirts, white shirts, and black vests for the members of the orchestra.

In December, seven student musicians merited places in the All-State Orchestra. Cheri Hook, Jill Jordan, Lela Walsh, Cathy Millis, Ronda Bayoud, Gene Wheeler, and Mary Louise Bland placed in the viola, violin, and cello. They further displayed their abilities in a concert in San Antonio.

Combining efforts with the choir and the band, the orchestra played a significant part in the production of the musical, "Hello Dolly" in February.

SCOTT TOM HALL ignoring the fast and furious on carrying Sherman opposition into a successful extra point.

Scot Drives Annihilate Pre-district Teams

CO-CAPTAINS Hoddy Peck and Mike Forester with Head Coach Herman Bailey

After rambling over pre-district opponents, the Highland Park Scots had to fight to retain a respectable 5-5 season record.

The Scots began the season by defeating the Paschal Panthers of Fort Worth 27-12. Led by the running of Randy Goss and Sam Gibbons, the Scots racked up 304 yards on the ground. A scrambling defense led by Mike Forester allowed Paschal only 12 points by forcing four turn-overs.

Next week, the Sherman Bearcats invaded Highlander Stadium in a hard-hitting contest. The Scots' defense virtually shut out Sherman's heralded passer O'Quine Sneed with Bryan Ward and Larry Dupre figuring in valuable interceptions.

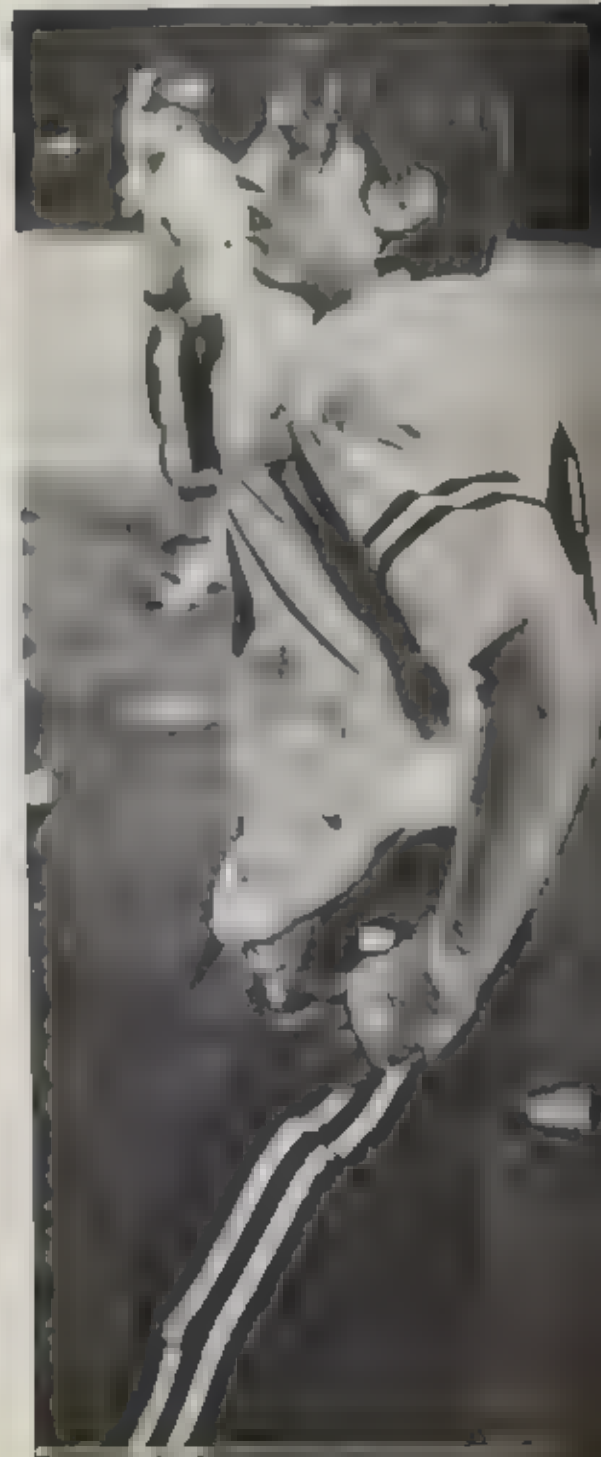

The defense kept the Bearcats out of the endzone to score and the HP offense managed to put 20 points on the board as Randy Goss scored on the ground and Sam Gibbons tossed a scoring strike to Larry Dupre.

In the third game of the season, the Scots cranked up their running attack as they battled Lake Highlands. After Lake Highlands fumbled on the opening kickoff, the Scots scored on the first offensive play as Sam Gibbons scored off right tackle from 24 yards out. The kick failed and Lake Highlands came back to make the score 7-6. Sam Gibbons once again figured in the scoring by booting a 23-yard field goal. Highland Park scored again during the third quarter as a pass from Larry Dupre clicked for a 15-yard touchdown. Lake Highlands scored to make the score 16-14, but Randy Goss took the ball over from the 4-yard line to make the final tally 23-14.

The Jesuit Rangers challenged the Scots in the last game before district play. Although the Scots had not been particularly worried about the Rangers, the Rangers came to play and the Scots managed to win by two touchdowns, 14-0. The two tallies came by land and the other in the air as Sam Gibbons scored during the third quarter. The first touchdown resulted from a Larry Dupre-Trey Rider pass fumbled to Kris Koustoubardis in the end zone.

Owls, Stallions Demolish Scots In District Play

The Scots journeyed to Garland for their first district 8-AAAA game. The Owls began the game for eight of their first ten downs. After scoring their first touchdown, they booted a field goal to make the score 10-0. The Scots scored two touchdowns behind the running of Randy Goss, but that proved the end of the Highland Park scoring as Garland rang up two fourth-quarter scores to make the final verdict 23-13. An odd aspect of the game was the fact that Garland finished with a minus-one rushing total, but had 219 yards in the air.

Following the Garland loss, the Scots returned to Highlander Stadium to meet North Mesquite. The 1971 loss to the Stallions occupied the mind of most of the seniors preparing for the bout as HP managed in the first half to hold the North Mesquite offensive machine to seven points, resulting from a Highland Park fumble on their own nine yard line.

The Scots, suffering again from numerous turnovers, were finally rewarded in the third quarter with three points from the foot of Sam Gibbons. In the final minutes, the Scot defense gambled in hopes of a Stallion turnover but lost as Scotty Yarbrough galloped for the clinching touchdown.

Defense, Offense Combine Efforts, Outride Colonels

With a partial loss of composure but relatively high hopes, the Scots traveled to Carrollton. On the weather-beaten field, Highland Park was splashed and ducked about 32-0 at the tree wit of the R. L. Turner Lions. The Lion offense led by Ricky Burton and Willie Gamble romped up and down the field while the Scot defense proved incapable of containing them.

Following the Turner fiasco, the Scots prepared to meet the Skeeters of Mesquite. On their fourth consecutive field, HP auditioned the wishbone offense but abandoned it before the end of the first quarter. A continually leaking defense seemed unprepared to stop the opposition play and the Scots fell behind from the start, losing 21-7.

Returning home the next Friday, Highland Park played its best game of the season in their 8-7 win over South Garland. Recollections of their pre-season boom came to mind as the Scots refused to falter, and came out ahead. The only spark for the Colonels was an opening kick-off return by senior George Washington and the ensuing extra point.

Although unable to score immediately, the Scots took control with Randy Goss flying over from the one in the closing seconds of third quarter. Sam Gibbons tacked on the winning point with a pass to Kris Koustoubardis.

Varsity Finishes Season With 5-5 Record

Highest point for the Scots in the Denton clash was the pre-game pep rally and a preliminary joust which predicted an HP win. The game proved disastrous for the Scots as the Denton backfield of Joe and Leslie Varner and Sophomore-of-the-Year David Washington ran free on the turf of Highlander Stadium.

The Scots seemed limited on offense, and Highland Park's only score came from a bootleg pass from Sam Gibbons to Randy Goss, as the Broncos ended their sweep through the district with a 27-7 win over HP.

Despite the let-down season and 5-5 play record, Highland Park received fine play from many individuals. Bryan Ward had at least one interception each game in the first four games of the season. David Saunders exhibited his speed and determination in the North Mesquite game. Mike Forester returned from an illness to start at tackle, an entirely new position for him. Sophomores Jeff Bailey and Bob McCulloch excelled on defense and offense in the final district games. On short notice, Tim Tiece filled in at center for the Lake Highlands game and remained there for the season.

'B' Team Grinds Out Even Record; Injuries Hamper Freshman Efforts

Coach Cecil Holmes, in his rookie year as head coach of the "B" team guided his troops to a 5-5 record.

The "B" teamers started out strong with victories over Pierce, 21-7, and Sherman, 14-6. To break a winning record, the Lake Highlands Wildcats returned two kickoffs for touchdowns and dominated the game for three quarters before the Scot offense started moving. Quarterback Bob Dickerson began to hit Mike Millet and other receivers for sizeable gains and finally cut score to a respectable 49-30. Jesuit was the next foe, and a strong running game led by Tom Haralson and Gordon Potts ground out a 24-14 win. The "B"-teamers lost their next two games to Garland and North Mesquite with the Garland game a heart breaker. Garland scored twice in the final minute of play to win a hard-fought contest.

Defense was the key in the next two games with Kyle Isakson and B. I. Bevans leading the way to victories over R. L. Turner and Mesquite. The "B" teamers finished their season with two losses in the Denton and South Garland games in which they were overmatched.

The freshman football team, under the leadership of Coach Orville Jones, finished its injury-ridden season at 3-4-1. At one time eight starters were out for the Scots, severely hampering their chances of a winning season. Mike Van Amburgh and Scott Smith led the frosh offense, while Jim Joiner and Bruce Hunt led the defensive charge. Ben Calloway, Jim Joiner, and Mike Van Amburgh were chosen captains.

Running Scots Find Home Court Victories

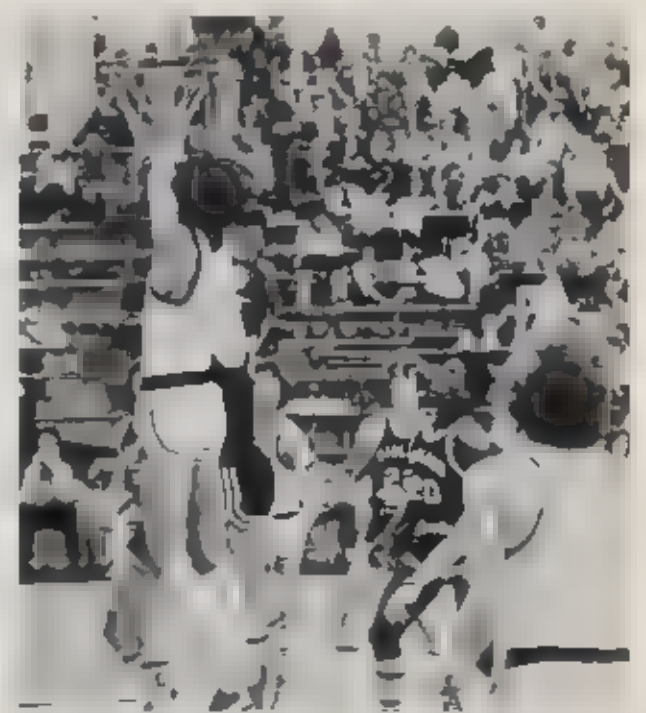

Powered by their famous fast-break offense, the Highland Park Running Scots ran away with the District 8 AAAA championship as they compiled an 11-1 district record and a season total of 30-5.

Slowing down the Scots was the first problem the opponents encountered as HP reeled off 13 straight wins, which included the Scot Classic championship trophy. David Coker and Bob Arnold were selected to that all-tournament team.

Stephen F. Austin High School of Bryan met the Blue and Gold in the finals of the Austin Tournament and edged the Scots 100-78. Sherman, Lake Highlands, and St. Marks then fell to the Scots but a rematch with Sherman caught the HP roundbalers off guard and Sherman won 67-63.

With a 16-2 record, the defending champions and co-favorites of the Dr. Pepper Tournament knocked off St. Mark's in the first round, then disposed of rival R. L. Turner in the second. But in the quarter-finals, a taller W. T. White team topped HP 74-50 to keep the Scots out of the finals for the first time in three years. Red-haired Bobby Arnold did walk away with a coveted All DP tournament medal for his efforts in the games.

District Victories Show Balanced Scoring

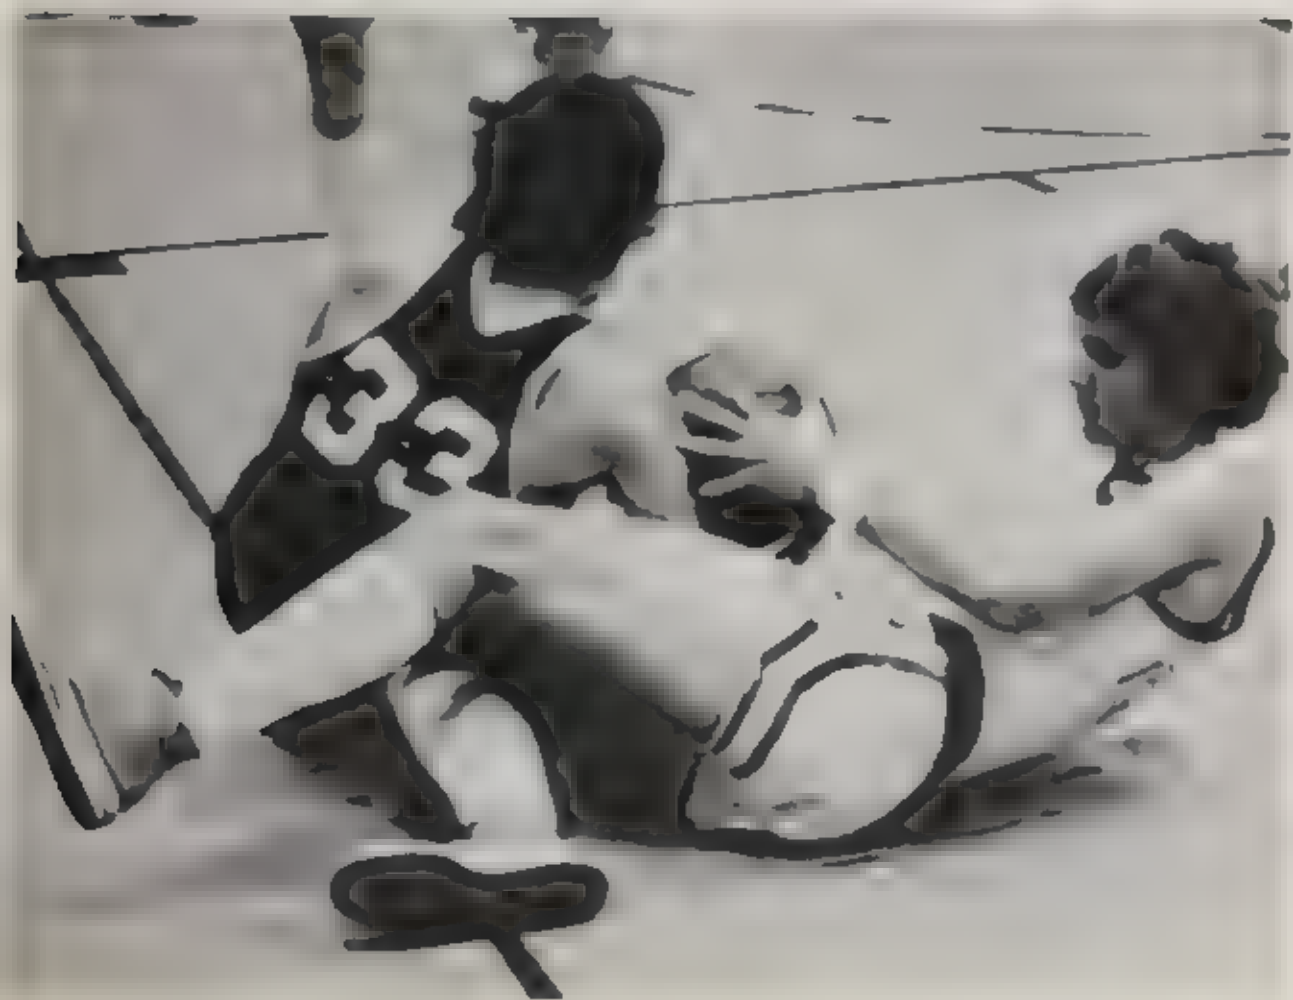

After warming up with St. Mark's the Scots entered district play and were predicted to finish fairly low in the standings. Big men David Wildman, Danny Houpt, and Robbie Thomas were ready to team up with Coker and Arnold to give the team a balanced attack.

Mesquite, Turner, Garland, and South Garland fell to the Scots before Denton beat them on the Bronco's home court. After that loss, High and Park won the next seven games in a row to clinch the district title.

Depth proved to be a key factor for HP as Blake Taylor, Charles Bradley, John Traeger, or Tim Doolittle could come off the bench without the team's losing stride.

Up to this point, the highlight of the season was the Denton game at Highlander Fieldhouse, where a standing-room-only crowd watched the Scots not only beat Denton and clinch the district title, but also win their 34th consecutive home-court game.

The bi-district game against the Irving Tigers was played at Sprague Fieldhouse in Southwest Dallas. Playing one of their finest games of the year, the Scots hit 57 percent of their shots only to be outscored 84-80 by the Tigers, who scored on 66 percent of their shots.

Freshmen Win Mesquite Tourney; 'B' Team Takes Second in District

Using a fast break offense and a man-for-man defense, the "B" basketball team compiled a 22-5 record, going 9-3 in district.

Each of the 15 Scots saw action, but the team was usually led by guards Don Arnold, Mark Dickenson, David Hundley, Ronnie Thompson, and postmen Eric Binion and Tom Somerville.

The Scots, under Coach Tom Shelton, won 13 non-district games, including the consolation championship of the Jesuit Tournament. When district play began, the Scots defeated their first four opponents, but then lost three starters to injury and illness and dropped three games in a row to Denton, North Mesquite, and Mesquite. The B-teamers rallied to win the rest of their games, finishing second to the Denton Broncos.

The freshmen were again divided into two teams. The White team, coached by Randy Emery, placed second in district by winning 12 of their 16 district games. At the beginning of the season, they entered the Mesquite Tournament, winning all three of their games and the championship. Outstanding players for the Whites were Billy Dearien, Dan Lawson, Chris Norton, Dickey Pineda, Scott Smith, Mark Pitzer, and Mark Milliorn. Pineda, Norton, and Lawson all averaged better than 10 points per game.

The Blues of Coach Robert Rhodes placed fourth in district. They also participated in the Mesquite Tournament, finishing fourth. Top players for the Blues were Dick Davis, Doug Roach, Charles Quisenberry, Jim Thomas, Mike Collins, Michaux Nash, and Richard Allums. Dick Davis led in scoring averaging more than 20 points per game, and Charles Quisenberry was the leading rebounder.

Track Team Places Fifth at Bishop Lynch

Under the leadership of captains Bob Arnold and Stan Vaughan, and the coaching of Jim Mouser, the Highland Park track team attempted to gain the district title.

Early in the season, the team competed against 20 other teams in the Bishop Lynch Invitational Meet, finishing fifth. Mark Pharo ran the 100-yard dash in 10.1 seconds to finish second while Rob Jones placed sixth in the 440. The mile relay team of Bob McCulloch, Jeff Bailey, Mark Pharo, and DeWitt Ray took fifth place, and in the two-mile run, Stan Vaughan and Bill Adams finished third and sixth.

In the field events, John Van-Amburgh made second place in the shot put, and Greg Fournet placed third in the discus.

Other members of the track team were senior Jeff Johnson, juniors Larry Dupre, Greg LaFille, Roger Said, Norman Ward, Bobby Wright, and sophomores Bill Blocker, Grover Elisor, John Gardere, Joe Murphy, Stuart Nelson, Grady Newton, Danny Paez, Preston Pierce, and John Reed and freshmen Neil Flinders, David Hallum, and Mike Van Amburgh.

After the basketball season ended, Bob Arnold, Don Arnold, and David Wildman joined the team in preparation for the April district meet.

HP Cindermen Test Endurance, Add to Mileage

At the close of a brief two-month season, the cross country team competed in eight meets and chalked up 1,310 miles on the road.

In preparation for their weekly two-mile races, team members gained endurance and improved their physical condition by running 12 to 17 miles a day. Workouts at Flagpole Hill and White Rock Lake tested their stamina as they trekked over hills, rocky fields, and concrete.

Highlighting the year, HP runners placed second at the Bishop Lynch meet and in the top ten several times as a team. Captain Stan Vaughan tied for first at Bishop Lynch and had numerous third and fourth-place finishes.

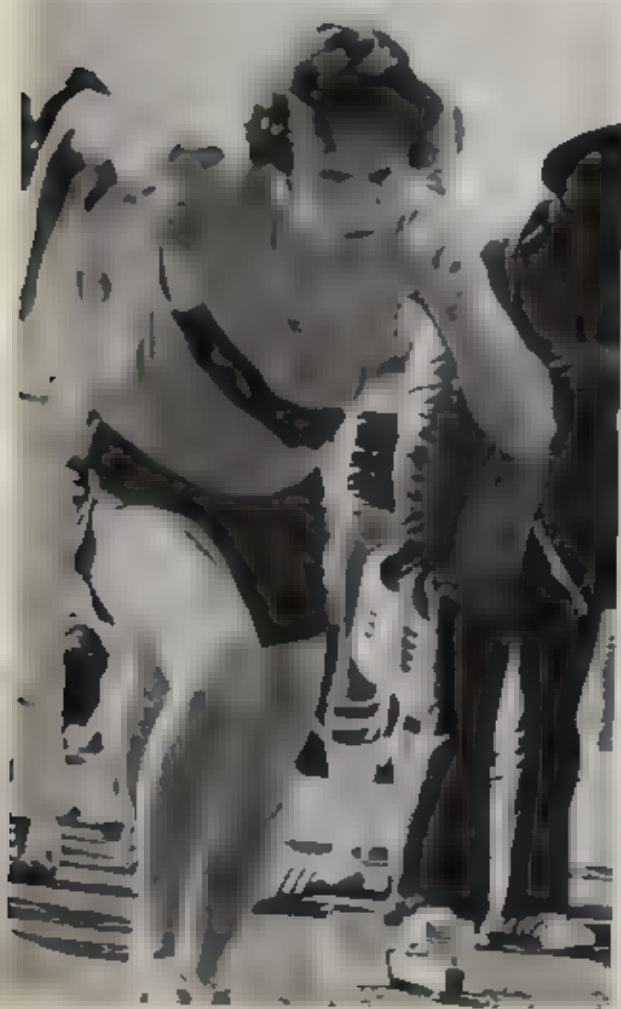

The 1972-73 cross country team, coached by Jim Mouser, included seniors Stan Vaughan and Mark Pharo, junior Brian Murray, sophomores John Gardere, Bill Adams, and Danny Paez, and freshman David Halum.

Nine Returning Stickmen Reinforce Team

Highland Park entered season baseball play with several respectable scrimmage wins under their belts.

Markus Kuby, Skeeter Miller, Prentiss Hall, Steve Jeske, and Lee Latzer alternated duties in the field with pitching. Trey Harris and Tim Tiece switched off as catchers. The Scots drew from a reservoir of strength from last year's team with nine returning varsity players. Co-captains Martin Harris and Tim Tiece, two-year "A" team veterans, led the team with the guidance of Coach Cecil Holmes.

The Scots attempted to open the season March 1 against J. J. Pearce, but rain forced a postponement until March 5. District play began March 20 with the Scots battling South Garland "B" team baseballers followed a similar schedule, competing against 16 teams during the season, including eight district games.

Between sprints around the boys gym and exercises on the tennis courts, the tennis team prepared for a try at their 29th consecutive district championship April 5-6.

The team, led by captains Phillip Wiggins and Lynne Wilkin and coached by Mrs. Jewell Hodge, showed their merit at Trinity, Garland, and J. J. Pearce high schools and in a state-wide tourney in Wichita Falls.

In the J. J. Pearce Tournament, senior Nancy Hodge netted a win in the girls' "A" singles and Clayton Davis and David Tucker won the boys' "A" doubles. In the "B" division, juniors Laurie McClain and Carrie Low volleyed to a victory in the girls' doubles.

Competing against the top teams in the state, Nancy Hodge and junior Suzy Smith won the girls' "A" doubles in the Wichita Falls Tournament.

At the Trinity Invitational, Suzy Smith and Carrie Lowe won first in girls' "A" doubles and Nancy Hodge received first in girls' "A" singles.

Besides working for a district championship, the tennis team also prepared for Regionals April 13-14.

Paul Wolcott returned in mid-season after battling a case of hepatitis to finish the 100-yard freestyle in 50 seconds in Regionals. At the University of Texas at Arlington, the boys' swim team placed second in regionals.

The female tankers came in first in both regionals and the SML relays with outstanding performances. Junior Nancy Sanford merited a first-place award in the 100-yard breast-stroke and captain Peggy Wighaman won the 100-yard freestyle.

Team Members Practice Skills, Tee Off in Meet

Driving for that all-important "hole in one," Highland Park's golfers practiced daily in preparation for district tournaments.

Led by co-captains senior Charles Adams and junior David Newman, the team spent sixth period at the Dallas Country Club improving their skills for three hours each day.

A medalist for the team at every tournament, Charles Adams' lowest score during the year was 66. Adams was rated one of the best in the city.

Intense workouts resulted in the golf team's victory over every team in their district leading to a district championship and a ticket to regional.

JUNIOR DAVID NEWMAN sizes up the situation after putting the ball.

Better Schedule Draws Athletes Into Intramurals

With better scheduling of teams and more organized games, the number of boys entering in intramural sports greatly increased.

The fall semester consisted chiefly of basketball with seven teams competing in a round-robin tournament. Kirk Dooley's team won the championship. Concluding the tournament was a game between the champions and the All Star players from the losing basketball teams.

All ages competed on intramural teams, with no maximum to the number of participants on each team. According to Coach Floyd Hightower, director of off-season sports, "There has been more enthusiastic interest in intramurals this year than in any other year, as shown by the increasing number of participants and the decreasing number of forfeits."

Aerobics Develops Girls' Stamina; Athletes Vie in Intramural Sports

Tennis as a competitive and recreational sport has become the "in" thing across the nation. Proof of this large-scale interest could be seen 12 months of the year in the traffic tie-ups on local tennis-courts.

Highland Park senior girls were pleased to find that they would be able to learn and practice tennis skills in their physical education classes. An expanded program of six and a half weeks of tennis instruction was offered early in the fall semesters by PE teacher and tennis enthusiast Miss Jayne Murchison to senior girls.

All girls strained their unused muscles in trying for the President's physical fitness patch. Winners must score in the 85th percentile in each sport.

Juniors and seniors spent three weeks on speedball fundamentals and competition. Freshman and sophomores endured the grueling aerobics run-walk program which improved their speed and ability. Juniors spent three weeks developing timing and agility with the coordination exercises which helped them compete in basketball. Using drop-kicking and dribbling techniques, sophomore girls furthered their abilities in speedball as the freshman plunged into the HP pool for the first time. Freshmen closed their first semester at HP with volleyball, juniors with softball and seniors with tenniquoits.

Intramural games, which enabled girls not taking gym to participate in sports, included tenniquoits and basketball competition.

Spring Semester Features Volleyball; New Health, PE Teacher Joins Staff

Volleyball, badminton, and soft ball intramurals plus a new health and P.E. teacher highlighted the spring semester in girls' sports.

Many afternoons were spent competing in intramural sports. Spring intramurals were volleyball, badminton, and softball. A new health and P.E. teacher, Miss Beth Simpson, came to Highland Park at mid-term replacing Mrs. Ida Mae Hubbard.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores began with volleyball, the semester favorite of most classes. Girls learned skills such as spiking and blocking and reviewed old skills such as setting up and serving. A written comprehension test was given to all classes.

Seniors "allemanded" their partners while square dancing three weeks. These square dancing skills could now be applied in the new Rodeo Club's square dances. The next three weeks were spent on coordination, posture, and figure control exercises along with recreational games such as badminton, shuffleboard, and ping pong. Seniors closed the term with softball and physical fitness training programs.

After volleyball, juniors exercised for three weeks, loosening up for three weeks of tennis. Basic skills of tennis were learned and then applied. Juniors ended the semester with badminton and the physical fitness unit.

Swimming and keeping their hair dry became the next objective for sophomores after volleyball. Tenth graders spent the first week being placed in groups and the rest of the six weeks learning new strokes and practicing old ones. Sophomores culminated the semester with softball and physical fitness.

Freshmen began with speedball, concentrating on dribbling down field and scoring on a variety of kicks. After three weeks of swimming, the freshmen spent six weeks on the run-walk program, finishing with the President's physical fitness tests.

Freshman Girl Heads Cuddle Club; Summer Jobs Provide Extra Money

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar!" echoed down the football field as freshman cheerleaders urged their team to a season-opener victory over Sherman.

Elected in the spring of 1972, frosh cheerleaders Kay Cory, Ann Fox, Kathy Little, Charlotte Thompson, and Tam Willard boosted the team's spirit to new heights.

Acting as go betweens from the ninth-graders to the Student Council, Tommy Koons and Charlie Quisenberry served as freshman representatives-at-large. Sixteen homeroom representatives worked with Tommy and Charlie by bringing ideas from each advisory.

Work loads increased for unsuspecting freshmen during their first year at high school with required algebra, English, and health. World history, introductory physical science, and foreign languages completed schedule cards. Choralaires provided a musical outlet for those so inclined while the Highlander band and orchestra received their share of budding musicians.

Ninth graders discovered another facet of the high school when they joined the Wednesday morning clubs. Joan Reed pushed the formation of the new Fellowship of Christian Athletes "Cuddle Group" and served as co-chairman of this girls' auxiliary.

Lynn McElheny and Shelly Showalter brought with them to high school a talent for modern interpretive dance after taking a course at SMU over the summer. Doug Defferari, Bruce Hunt, and Chris Norton earned a little hard cash after a summer's work as busboys at the Bavarian Steak House.

DOUG ROACH SOLVES his around town transportation problems with a 50 cc motor bike.

WHAT LIES AHEAD or behind for daring sedders Hunter Farrell and Kathy McDonald, who take off with a little help from the rrfriends Pete Adams, Cory Stinebaugh, and Sue Ann Blocker, who braved the unexpected wintry weather at Caruth Park?

SOPHOMORES LAURA DOLPH and Mary Wynne Wicker are unaware that Jim Strange is watching them as they decorate his house.

Sophomores Struggle With Classes, Show Competitive Spirit in Sports

"Even though I didn't make the Olympics, trying out was an experience I'll never forget," said sophomore Sarah Sanford, remembering the excitement of Olympic tryouts in Chicago last summer.

Hoping to improve her 200 meter breast stroke time of 2:52, Sarah endured long and difficult workouts this year.

The Class of '75 elected Nancy Neely and Paige Rippey as representatives-at-large to the Student Council. Other representatives were elected from each of the 16 homerooms. Round Table invited five involved and informed tenth graders to participate in their discussions.

At the "You've Got A Howdy Dance" in September, Social Committee chairman announced Jenny Haughton and Shannon Shipp as the friendliest sophomores.

Spirited sophs added talent and enthusiasm to HP clubs and athletics. Two sophomores, Bob McCulloch and Jeff Baily, boosted the roster of the varsity football team, with 35 others making up the majority of the B-team. Cheered on by B-team cheerleaders Ann Henry, Jennifer Jericho, Leila Shannon, and Jenny Haughton, the team won their season opener 14-6.

Fifteen boys played "B" basketball, and other sophomores were members of the tennis, golf, swimming, and baseball teams. Tenth-grade girls turned their energies to decorating houses and lockers and baking goodies for "B" team boys.

The average HP sophomore faced a schedule of English, algebra, biology, or world history, and an elective. Enrolled in major works English, algebra, and biology were 118 of the more studious sophomores.

SARAH SANFORD HURRIEDLY swims her final lap of a strenuous morning workout.

Seniors Enter Competitive Events; Officers Preside at Spring Functions

Excitement propelled the 1973 seniors as they worked toward their one main goal — college entrance.

Problems confronted by the 374 upperclassmen included ordering graduation announcements, completing Planning Ahead sheets, and coping with the ever-plaguing "senioritis."

Seniors obtaining recognition as National Merit Semifinalists numbered ten, and twelve others received Letters of Commendation.

Ninety-four studious seniors worked for college credit in five advanced placement courses.

Not always of primary importance to seniors, academic interest yielded to extracurricular activities. Don Farmer and Betty Buckley starred in "Flowers for Algernon," the senior play.

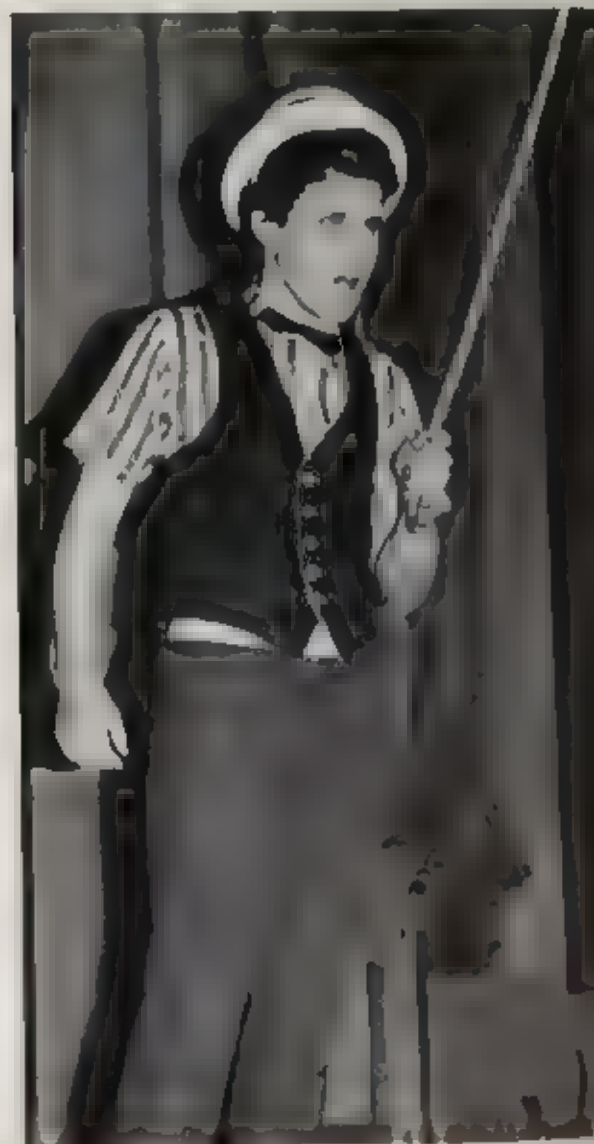

An all-time record of four singers had the distinction of being selected members of the All-State Choir with Diane Dianels achieving the rating of number one first soprano in Texas.

Seventeen seniors participated in speech competitions at the R. L. Turner and Southwestern Bell Debate tournaments. Eben Price received the title of the Outstanding Boy Speaker at the Jesuit tourney.

AFS seniors were Sara Mazal from Uruguay and Germany's Astrid Hakenbroch. Hi Park's Amy Smith had journeyed to Calcutta, India, as a summer exchange student in 1972.

January brought the election of the senior class officers. David Wildman, president, presided over graduation activities. Eben Price served as vice-president while Ann Defferari kept charge of the senior social agenda, and Nancy Miller supervised financial matters.

Senior Girls Await College, Support Teams

While most girls would pack for college in the fall, Sally Sneed prepared to start her professional dancing career in Frankfort, Germany, with the Frankfort Ballet Company.

Graduating girls actively supported the Scots at varsity football and basketball games and swimming meets. Spirit committee heads Louann Dobbs and Laure Reppetto supervised the artistic decorations at weekly pep rallies. Beth Sherman and Sharon White kept careful tabs on individual scoring at basketball games. Even in chilly weather, Gina Bagley and Peggy Wighamman endured early morning swimming workouts.

At local department stores, boutiques and restaurants, senior girls worked to earn money, while others gave their talents and time to volunteer projects. Carol Becker volunteered for the tutorial project at the Church of Incarnation. Lisa Ware and Evanne Browne served as hostesses at Country Dinner Playhouse.

Last summer Marianne Windrow and Kay Huckabee worked and gave their services at the nationwide gathering of Christians at Expo '72. Interests in religion continued strong throughout the year with Bible classes, Young Life meetings, and church-sponsored ski trips to Colorado.

Dawn Klemow often assisted in conducting circulatory and dissecting experiments with dogs at SMU.

The traditional dances and teas, organized by different committees headed by Hi-Lite president Kim Farrell, kept senior girls on the go.

Senior Boys Dare Offbeat Hobbies, Drop Existing Senior Dating Ideas

Pursuing outlets for their frustrations, senior boys engaged in the ever popular activities of fire extinguisher wars and water balloon fights.

Dreaming of professional careers, the male seniors developed interesting hobbies. Tom Matthews toured England in August, with an all-star soccer team, the Texas Longhorns, and Dewitt Ray raced his Z-28 Camaro at Dallas International Speedway. Cowboys John O'Connor, Craig Barton, and Paul Rohlf's relishing the thrill of local rodeos, formed the Rodeo Club.

Distinctions awarded to athletes included appointments to the All-District teams for Rusty Farabee and Terry Willis, with Sam Gibbons, Huddy Peck, and Trey Rider receiving honorable mention. The Dr. Pepper Tournament all-tourney team admitted Bob Arnold as our only representative.

Musical senior boys devoted many hours to the spring production of "Hello Dolly." Balancing precariously on ladders and stools, and performing athletic feats were some unusual parts.

Senior boys displayed their creativity and school spirit during pep rallies. Super scot Doug Thompson aroused spirit by foiling his arch rivals Martin Peck and Kirk Dooley.

Breaking tradition, some senior boys found themselves actually dating the "dateless" senior girls instead of underclassmen females. Pushed by inflation into unaccustomed activity, senior guys labored to earn pocket money and rushed to meet those all-important deadlines necessary for college applications.

AT A TENSE basketball game, Martin Peck's expression mirrors the course of the score.

STAGG RENZ, C.L.U., is truly a career, professional insurance agent! At the end of his sophomore year in college — he decided on a career of insurance underwriting. That was in the year 1940. He entered the University of Texas as a Junior — majoring in insurance. Of the some 15,000 students enrolled at the time, only ten were "insurance majors" — and Stagg Renz was one of them! Immediately after the end of WWII, on October 27, 1945, Stagg Renz organized his own Local Agency business in Dallas, Texas. He has attended the Insurance School in Hartford, Connecticut (1946) and subsequently completed a multitude of insurance "short courses" all over Texas. In 1954, he won the coveted Chartered Life Underwriter designation. From the beginning (1945) he has endeavored to serve his clientele as an "Insurance General Practitioner." Operating a true, multiple line insurance agency, representing the best known "brand" names among American companies, Stagg Renz serves his clients in the best traditions of the American Agency System. "YOU CAN BET ON STAGG RENZ for good insurance services!"

ELLEN KAUFMAN AND BARBARA Nelson have all eyes upon them as Oink Y Teen members Diane Daniels, Bonnie Jericho and Claire Cobb are assisted by Mrs. Willman in enthusiastically writing copy for their "Snow Job" Style Show. Sponsored by Mr. Umphrey's.

When the going gets easy, you ain't climbing.

The Dupres

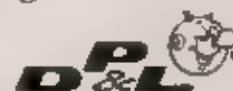

Count the good things you've got going.

Maybe it was easy,
maybe it was tough. Either way, it's good to have the high school years behind you. Now you can do and be just about anything you choose.
You've got a lot of good things going, a lot of them on electricity.
Music is only one example.
Electricity brings your favorite artists right into your own home, lets you enjoy them anytime, day or night, on your radio, stereo, or TV set.

You've got a lot of other good things going on electricity besides music.

We don't have to tell you. Just look around.

That's why Dallas Power & Light plans and builds ten years ahead. We intend to keep your good things going.
Life gets better electrically.

"Part of being a leader is being able to withstand the arrows of price competition. A leader need not be the biggest or the oldest company in its field, but it's the one that stands out because it is the best. It wins price wars because its reputation for excellence in its field will not be obliterated by price-cutting.

"A leader is also usually a living, and very healthy, testimonial to the effectiveness of an important market principle: 'That in the long run it profits you far more to sell your product on its value rather than on its price.'

"Almost everyone will agree with that principle in theory; but many violate it in practice. It is often so easy to pick up quick sales by promoting 'special prices' or 'deals'. And it is so hard to resist the temptation to fight fire with fire when price-cutting competitors are apparently hurting you.

"But when you get down and fight the 'cut-price' merchandiser on his home grounds, and by his rules, you place yourself in danger of losing much and gaining little. You identify your fine product with his and destroy, in the minds of customers, some of your product's distinctive value. You may gain short term sales, but you are apt to sacrifice the kind of customer respect which creates long-term growth.

"Perhaps the main reason more manufacturers do not sell on value rather than on price is that selling on value is far more difficult than selling on price. It requires, of course, a product that has value. But that is only the beginning.

"It also requires the marketing wisdom to know what specific 'character' you should create for your product to separate it most favorably from all others of its kind. Then it requires the creative skill to crystalize that character on paper or on the air waves, and project it into the minds of the right people at the right time.

"It requires something else, too: the lonely courage to stand out from the crowd, to sell on your own consistently, year in year out, regardless of the opportunistic tactics of competition. Perhaps this is the rarest quality of all. It sometimes is called leadership."

What are you doing after school?

Some of your friends will be going away to college. Others to jobs. What are your plans?

If you haven't made any as yet, consider a job with today's Army

We start you at $307.20 a month and you may not even have to spend it. Free meals, free medical and dental care. And 30 days paid vacation each year

We'll teach you a skill that can become a career in civilian life. Choose from over 300 matchless job opportunities guaranteed in writing. And you can combine this with travel to Europe, Hawaii, Korea, Alaska and several locations in the U.S.

With our 180-day Delayed Entry Option you can sign up now and not have to report for up to 6 months, depending on the course you choose Wouldn't you enjoy your summer more if you knew where you'd be in the fall? Your local Army recruiter can tell you how. See him today.

The co-editors and business manager would like to extend thanks to the many people who have helped in the production of the 1973 Highlander to the editorial and business staffs, to our photographers, to Kincaid Photography, to Neblett Color Labs, and the Laughhead Photographers. Mr. Bob Lynch of Taylor Publishing Company has given guidance throughout the year. Special appreciation goes to our sponsors Miss Diane Cook and Mr. Ogden Kidd

OPPOSITE PAGE TOP ROTC cadets show respect and reverence for past war heroes at the Veteran's Day flag raising ceremony

OPPOSITE PAGE RIGHT After mistaking the photographer for a live foot mouse, this cat readies himself for a ferocious attack

BOTTOM "All for me?" questions Betsy McKie as Tom Latimer delivers her Valentine's Day carnations

BELOW The outcome of the Denton basketball game is registered on the faces of juniors Leslie Fischer and Martha Nichols

RIGHT If a picture could say a thousand words, then Diane Drake is saying them all with one expression as she contemplates the thought of four additional arts needed hurriedly for the Bagpipe

Through Reason We Seek to Find Answers

Through observing the world around us, we put our daily lives in perspective by history-making events.

Climaxing a turbulent political campaign year, Americans re-elected President Richard Nixon to his second term in office. Within weeks, a ten-year struggle in Viet Nam ended, and following agreements made between nations, Americans anxiously awaited the return of 463 prisoners of war.

Unfortunately, the untimely deaths of two of America's presidents, Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson, put a damper on the joyous news of peace in Southeast Asia.

After a decade of research that put America foremost in the space program, the United States in December sent the last Apollo mission to explore the lunar surface.

At the Olympic games in Munich, Arab guerrillas kidnapped and assassinated 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team to the shock and astonishment of the nations represented.

In hopes of bringing a little bit more of the world to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, engineers constructed the Regional Airport, located mid-way between the two cities. Modern equipment will be installed to prevent hijackings along with an increase in personnel for passenger checking.

Voters, wary of the publicized 1972 scandal involving a number of high Texas officials, elected Dolph Briscoe to the governor's office.

The projected Trinity canalization drew heated comments from people wanting a more industrialized city and those who would rather put the money into local schools and hospitals.

Through Life We Enrich Our Personality

PEOPLES OF TIME fade as a busy but triumphant year comes to a close for Co-editors Carolyn Bigger, Jane Powell, and Business Manager Tom Latimer
